GREAT GENERAL ENGAGEMENT IS RAGING WITH DESPERATION

GERMANS ROUT FRENCH WHILE JAPAN STRIKES ACROSS SEAS

BERLIN FLASHES NEWS OF VICTORY

Berlin, Aug. 24.—(Via wireless to the Associated Press from Nauen, Germany, via Sayville, L. I.)—Official announcement was made here today that the German army, commanded by Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurtemberg, has defeated a French army at Neufchateau.

It captured many guns, flags and prisoners, including several generals.

German armies under Prince Rupprecht, of Bavaria, Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm and Grand Duke Albrecht are vigorously pursuing the French. The army under Rupprecht captured 150 guns at Luneville, Blament and Cirey (in the French department of Meurthe and Moselle.)

The army commanded by the crown prince pursued the French beyond Longwy.

The Germans are west of the river Meuse and advancing against Maubeuge. They have defeated an English brigade of cavalry.

WASHINGTON GETS REPORT.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The German embassy today received the following message from the foreign office in Berlin.

"The army of the German crown prince has won a decisive victory northwest of Diedhosen over five French army corps. The retreat of the southern French wing on Verdun has been cut off. The French troops were repulsed across the river Meuse in complete rout. The crown prince's army, giving chase, took many prisoners and it is declared the French troops are no longer able to face the terrific fire of the German infantry."

RUSH ON DEADLY WIRES AT NIGHT

Paris, Aug. 24.—The Petit Journal publishes the following details of the fighting around Liege, obtained by it from a Belgium officer:

German troops rushed on the barbed wire defenses before the forts of Liege in the darkness of night. A very strong current of electricity was being maintained in these wires, and as a result the first ranks of the Germans were electrocuted.

Unchecked the assailants followed in masses, but they were blinded by the glare of powerful searchlights. They hesitated and started to retire. At that moment a heavy fire of rifles and artillery was concentrated on the mass of German troops and they were cut to pieces. The mass of bodies formed a mound, in some places many feet high.

To drown out the groans of the wounded the German bugles sounded martial airs and the troops still alive united in cheering. Near one fort two columns of Germans, blinded by the glare of Belgian searchlights attacked each other. This incident was seen from the fort. When one side seemed to have the better of the struggle, the Belgian officer goes on to say, our artillery fired into both sides alike, "thus making the struggle more even."

Chihuahua, Mexico, Aug. 24.—Gen. Francisco Villa today issued a statement regarding his relations with the Carranza government at Mexico City. He said:

"I have no personal feeling in this matter against Carranza. This country should not again be under military government. The armies by our constitution are secondary to the constituted government and it is time that the country should be governed by the people, for the people and not, as heretofore, governed by a military clique whose only object is personal welfare and not the welfare of the masses.

FIRST CHARTERED SHIP BRINGS 400

New York, Aug. 24.—The first of the specially chartered ships to bring American refugees out of Europe—the Italian liner, Principe Di Udine—steamed into New York harbor today with 399 passengers. They had paid in the aggregate of $200,000 for their passage, for this was the sum given the Lloyd Sabaudo company at Genoa, on condition that the vessel be turned over to the refugees to go direct to New York. Each passenger paid $250 gold as a minimum for first cabin accommodations leaving a deficit of about $40,000 which will be met by the committee which arranged the transportation. In a long statement issued at New York today detailing the acute conditions that the Americans confront abroad, the committee said: "The money was well spent."

FIND GIRL'S BODY BURIED IN SAND

Indiana State Library

Helena Wood Smith, Young Artist, Was Foully Strangled.

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—Buried in the sand a mile from her former home at Carmel by the sea, the body of Helena Wood Smith, a young artist, who disappeared two weeks ago, was found yesterday by a searching party. Death had been caused by strangulation.

George Kodoni, a Japanese artist-photographer, who had been arrested at Salinas, told Sheriff Nesbitt that Miss Smith fell over a cliff bordering Carmel beach after they had quarreled. When he saw the body fall on the rocks and then into the sea, Kodoni said he became alarmed at the possible consequence and fled, remaining in hiding until arrested. Before admitting these facts however, the Japanese maintained that he had not seen nor heard of the missing girl since he left her at her bungalow on August 12.

The body was found by a party of the young woman's friends headed by Frederick A. Bechtoldt, a novelist. A piece of heavy cord was tightly drawn around the neck and a sweater had been wrapped around the head and tied in place with a towel.

CONFESSES TO MURDER.

Salinas, Aug. 24.—George Kodani, a Japanese photographer under arrest here confessed to Sheriff Nesbit today that he had murdered Helena Wood Smith, a New York artist, who had been living in the colony of writers and painters at Carmel, by the sea. He told conflicting stories of the murder, one version being that he killed Miss Smith in defense.

LIGHTNING HITS BARN.

One Horse Burns in Fire That Followed Freakish Bolt.

A large barn on the property of Fred H. Baade, just inside the city limits on South Broadway, was struck by a bolt of lightning at 7 o'clock Sunday evening and destroyed. One horse was killed and thirty ducks and chickens were also burned in the fire that consumed the structure. Mr. Baade estimates his loss in excess of $1,000 and only $250 insurance was held on the building.

Neighbors succeeded in saving two horses from the burning building, but all efforts to save four tons of hay and about twenty bushels of corn were fruitless. The bolt that struck the barn was of the freakish variety. When it was about 100 feet from earth, it split and one portion hit a telephone pole along the road nearly 300 feet away.

GERMAN PRESS NOW VOWING VENGEANCE

London, Aug. 24.—4:22 p. m.—The London newspapers today quote the German newspaper, Taglische Rundschau as declarin that Belgium bitterly will rue the day she dared to oppose her mightly neighbor. Great Britain, the German newspaper also says, will pay dearly for her interference in this war by seeing the permanent establishment of a German naval base on the coast of Belgium.

The Pan-Germanic organs declare that the portions of Belgium now overrun by the German army will be incorporated in the German empire.

Report is Persistent.

Refugees coming from Germany stated, according to the Evening Standard, that reports persist there that Crown Prince Frederick William is dead.

This is the latest of a series of similar reports, some representing that the heir to the throne had been stabbed by a socialist, others that he had been wounded in battle.

London Without News.

No news of Japanese or German military operations in the far east reached London since Japan's declaration of war upon Germany. According to the Japanese embassy here those who are looking for the occupation of Kiao Chow almost simultaneously with the Japanese declaration of war, will be disappointed. The view is expressed at the embassy here that in order to avoid needless loss of life the operations against Kiao Chow will be [illegible]

WHERE GERMAN FORCES ARE.

Kaiser Has Mighty Fighting Machine on Belgian Soil.

Rotterdam, Aug. 24.—Via London 12 noon.—According to the best information obtainable here, the disposition of the German forces in Belgium is broadly as follows: The right flank, occupying the entire Terrain immediately south of Antwerp is moving southwest in the direction of Lille. A second force is moving on Maubeuge, fifty miles southeast of Lille, in the department of Nord, and a third is occupied with the reduction of the Namur forts, which consist of nine defenses of steel and concrete surrounding the city. It is estimated that these three columns together comprise nearly a quarter of a million. The main northern Germany army is advancing slowly with its front extending from Givet, France, to Dieden in Lorraine. The French defenses from La Fero, to Reims are thought to be the objective of this army, which is believed to number 300,000 men.

The main body to the south is directing its efforts upon the Verdun-Nancy line of defenses, and now occupies Strassburg.

Count von Bernstorff Says Kaiser is Bound to Win in End.

POLES HAVE SET UP GOVERNMENT

Returning German Ambassador Gives Out Notable Interview.

New York, Aug. 24.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, announced upon his arrival here today from Rotterdam that his government had been informed that Russian civil and military authorities had withdrawn from Poland and that the Poles had set up an independent government with Warsaw as its capital.

The German ambassador gave out one of the most authoritative interviews yet expressed here on Germany's attitude toward the war. Germany was bound to win in the end he said. She was fighting because her cause was just. He predicted that Americans would come to regard the conflict in this light. Italy, he believed, would not permit herself to take side against Germany.

REDFIELD WARNS WIRELESS PLANT

Washington, Aug. 24.—After a conference with Secretary Daniels today Secretary Redfield notified the German owned wireless station at Tuckerton, N. J. that it is operating in violation of the law.

The action was taken because the Tuckerton station never has been licensed as is required in the radio laws. It began operating last May in the experimental stage, and lately has been the only direct means of communication between the United States and Germany. Other stations operating are said to require a relay during the summer. The Tuckerton tower is said to be the only one having a system capable [illegible]

FORCES ENGAGED ALL ALONG LINE

Paris, Aug. 24.—2:57 p. m.—"The general engagement continues today with desperation," is the wording of an official communication given out this afternoon. "Already both sides have suffered serious losses."

The French minister of foreign affairs announces that the contact has been established between the opposing forces all along the line in Belgium, and up to the present without advantage to either side.

Confirmation was given of the report that the German airship Zeppelin No. 8 had been destroyed, and that there had been great Russian successes.

It is admitted this afternoon that Luneville, Ameance and Dieuloard, in the department of Meurethe and Moselle, have been occupied by the Germans. The French front otherwise has not been modified.

Our armies had resolutely taken the offensive between Moselle and Mons, in Belgium. A general battle is now being fought in Upper Alsace upon the Vosges mountains and along the river Meurthe. The main body of troops is under the command of General Pau. These forces hold the front heretofore indicated, roughly speaking, between Badonviller and Luneville. An army from the north of Wavre is approaching Neufchateau and is attacking the German forces which have defiled through Clamburg and are now upon the right bank of the Semois.

Not Yet Effective.

Zeppelin airships of which the Germans expected great things appear as yet to have been inoffensive, according to opinion in the French capital. Of the fifteen Zeppelin units one is believed to have been disabled by the fire of the Liege forts on August 6 and another was demolished in a shed at Metz by the French aviator Finck. Two others have been seen by Belgian aviators apparently wrecked by wind squalls in the forest between Metz and Aix-la-Chapelle. Another has been brought down at Badenviller near Luneville.

Of the remainder, two were supposed to be on the Russian frontier and the others at Cologne, Hamburg and Kiel, and on the French frontier.

Bring Belgian Locomotives.

Three hundred locomotives from the railroads of Belgium were brought to Paris today to prevent their being used by the Germans.

A dispatch to the Havas agency from Ostend say that although the presence of Uhlans is reported in many places the situation appeared much better. Communication is being maintained as far as Alosa, fifteen miles northwest of Brussels. A traveler who tried to return to Brussels got to Hombeek, nine miles north of the capital, where he reports Belgian cavalry had just annihilated a patrol of Uhlans who were covering the passage of a body of German troops to Grimbehen, a village six miles northeast of Brussels. The traveler said that he saw the bodies of five Uhlans at the railway station.

FARMER'S WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Myrtle Jetmore Says Spouse Bought Her $4 Worth of Togs in 3 Years.

Charging among other things that her husband during a period of more than three years of married life bought her but $4 worth of clothes, Myrtle Jetmore has filed suit in the superior court for a divorce from Jasper Jetmore. She also says that he has for more than two years failed to suitably provide for herself and child, neglecting to get them things to eat and did not maintain the table. She also says he ordered her to leave and drove her from home. They were married July 1, 1911, and separated the 20th inst. They have one child aged 2 years, of which the plaintiff asks the court to give her the custody. She also prays for $1,000 alimony. An order to restrain the defendant from molesting her has been issued.

Calls Him Habitual Drunkard.

In a divorce complaint filed in the superior court Della Imbody prays for a divorce from George Imbody, from whom she says she separated six years ago. During the past two years she says he has wholly failed to make any provision for her support and she charges that for two years he has been a habitual drunkard.

Wants Limited Separation.

Minetta Agster has brought suit in the superior court for a limited divorce from Chester Agster and she asks $40 a month for the support of herself and two children, aged 2 and 3 years, respectively, of both of which she petitions for the custody. They were married in November, 1910, and separated in 1912. For the past two years, she complains, the defendant wholly failed and refused to provide support for herself and the children.

Notes of the Courts.

The Citizens' Trust company has filed suit in the superior court against John Auer, demanding judgment for $150 on a note.

The German-American Trust company, as receivers for the Bliss Sanitary Garbage Can company, a defunct concern that was established at Grabill and never did any business but accumulate liabilities, has filed suits in the superior court against Joseph Nussbaum and Levi Roth to collect $450 from each on notes.

In the superior court Judge W. C. Ryan has granted a divorce to Grace M. Rogers from Frank H. Rogers.

To recover $200 which he says the plaintiffs owe him as money given in part payment for real estate of which he never has been given possession, William L. Stevenson has sued Rebecca Kintz and John Kintz in the superior court for $260. He says the defendants, after getting his money, sold the property to another person and gave possession.

Raymond Mowery has been appointed drainage commissioner to succeed William Pyle, who recently died. The appointment was made by the board of county commissioners.

Timothy Franklin Mosely has filed suit in the superior court against S. Bash & Co. to collect $500 on account.

William M. Clutter, deputy clerk for the superior court, has returned from a week's vacation at Clear lake.

MAY DENY TWO LICENSES.

The county commissioners may deny retail liquor licenses to F. Lukaszawski and William C. Gebhart when the petitions come up for hearing next month. Lukaszawski wants to start a saloon in a building to be erected, if he gets a license, at the corner of Hayden and Chute streets, and Gebhart wants to operate a saloon on the Bluffton road near the county farm. Complaints against granting a license to either petitioner have been received by the commissioners.

REPORT ROADS IN GOOD SHAPE.

In reports made Saturday to Road Superintendent William Tonkel the deputy superintendents set forth that the highways of Allen county are in fine condition. Much gravel is being placed, the St. Joe road being especially well taken care of in this respect by Deputy Superintendent Andrew Blume.

County Treasurer J. Herman Bueter, who is chairman of the Commercial club's committee that has in charge the celebration of good roads' day, when the four mile stretch of concrete highway between Fort Wayne and New Haven is completed, has been informed by C. D. Franks, assistant engineer of the Universal Cement company, of Chicago, that his concern will have a representative here on that occasion.

Floyd Greek, aged 23, of Sheldon, is held for burglarizing the home of John Robinson, nn Lafayette township, one night last week, and has made a confession to Deputy Sheriff Henry Branning. He was arrested Sunday by Deputies Branning and Courdevey. The burglary was committed while the Robinson family was attending a funeral and $4 cash, two revolvers and a gold watch were taken. One revolver was thrown away, one was brought to Fort Wayne and pawned and the watch was secreted in a hollow tree. Young Greek resides in Sheldon. Following his confession an affidavit charging burglary was filed against Greek and he was admitted to bond in the sum of $500, which was furnished. He will be arraigned directly in the circuit court. It is said that while he has caused his family much anxiety, this is the first serious trouble he has been in. He completely collapsed when locked in jail to await the filing of a bond for him.

SEES TRIUMPH FOR GERMANS

ing here. There was no excuse for that act except the desire to deceive the people of the United States as to the true conditions of the war. But I believe Americans will prove themselves fair enough to weigh carefully all the news that comes from English and French sources.

"The calling of the Japanese into a European quarrel shows one thing above all else. It is that England does not feel very safe. The Japanese will doubtless take Kia Chow—sheer weight of numbers assures that. But by the end of the war Japan will have the supremacy of the Pacific—a thing she has striven for during many years. Japan took advantage of the situation to strike this blow for the sole purpose of acquiring this supremacy.

Will Have Different View.

"When the true story of the assault on Liege is told, Americans will have a far different opinion than that gained from the colored accounts from Belgium, French and English sources. As a matter of fact, the troops under von Emmich, which went to the assault of this strongly fortified position numbered only between 5,000 and 6,000 infantry and cavalry. The taking of Liege was one of the greatest military feats in modern times. What was expected to take weeks was accomplished in days by two brigades. Von Emmich was slightly wounded in the leg during the attack, but did not relinquish command."

The ambassador denied reports that the German crown prince had been wounded by an assassin in Berlin. Moreover, he added, the crown prince had never been wounded before Liege for the simple reason that he was not at Liege but in command of troops at the fortress at Metz.

Victory for Crown Prince.

Of the reported Russian invasion of East Prussia, Count Bernstroff said: "The reports of the penetration by a Russian force are probably true. That part of the German frontier is not heavily fortified. But the Russians will never cross the Vistula."

"Fifteen corps of the Austrian army, each comprising 40,000 men, are now on the Russian frontier of Austria, Count von Bernstorq said. In German, besides the last line of reservists, 1,300,000 men, upon whom the government had no claim for military service, had volunteered and became enrolled in an army of home defense.

"Germany has been attacked, therefore has no responsibility for the war," Count von Bernstorff said. "To the last man in the empire, we will defend our country. This war has no other object but the destruction of the German and the Austrian empires, and we believe we will be able to prove to all the world that this cannot be accomplished.

As One Man For the War.

"The German people are as one man for the war. It is neither the emperor's war nor a war of the officers, as many have charged. It is a war of the German people. I am old enough to remember 1870 and the enthusiasm that stirred our country then. tn this war the enthusiasm is ten times as great as it was then.

"The women and children and the old men have uncomplainingly gone into the fields to gather the crops—glad to give what they can to their country. And we have wonderful crops this year.

"Every man, woman and child old enough to know what war means, has volunteered to do some service. As an illustration, there is a multi-millionaire in Munich who is today delivering mail from door to door. He volunteered to do a postman's duty because the postmen had gone to war."

Russians uit Poland.

Count von Bernstorfff left Berlin on August 11. At that time, he said the German government had reports that not a Russian soldier had been left in Poland. This report, Count von Bernstorff added, was general throughout Berlin.

"I do not know what sort of government the Poles set up nor do I vouch for the accuracy of the report We were informed however, that the Russian army proceeding against Germany was to strike through Russia north of Poland and invade east Prussia. This appears to have been borne out by subsequent reports of the Russian invasion."

Cable dispatches from St. Petersburg two weeks ago stated that the czar had promised autonomy to Poland for its support of the Russian forts.

TRANSFER CORNER MAN IS REMOVED

Traction Company Abolishes Position Established Years Ago.

The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company has decided to abolish the employment of an inspector at the transfer corner, Main and Calhoun streets, and Fred Schaaf, there for six years, has been assigned to duty on the city cars. This position had been in existence ever since the traction company operated in Fort Wayne, and for years it was filled by Fred Fashling, now claim agent for the company.

Owing to the fact that the city has placed traffic policemen at the corners, regulating traffic and the movement of cars and other vehicles, it is no longer necessary to have a man there as the car crew is able to throw their own switches, because of stopping on the near side of the streets.

Originally the inspector's duty was to sell tickets and to issue transfers, but this system was abloished many years ago.

LOCAL PEOPLE IN EUROPE TO SAIL

Most of Fort Wayne Folks Abroad Have Arranged to Return.

Messages from Europe during the last few days indicate that most of the Fort Wayne people abroad, detained because of the war, have finally made arrangements to leave those countries involved in the present conflict and have secured bookings on boats to sail soon for home.

Its said that Mrs. Stephen B. Fleming and daughters Geraldine and Josephine will arrive in Canada Friday on the steamship Allen. They will immediately come to Fort Wayne for a visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Helen Fleming.

It is also known that the Homer G. Davisson party will sail on Aug. 29, and Fred Lambert received a cablegram from his wife and daughter Miss Violet that they sailed from London Aug. 22.

Albert Schele received a postcard Monday morning from Dr. J. A. Williams, of the United Dental company's office in this city. Dr. Williams is in London, and wrote that there was no chance for him at this time to return to America.

RAILWAY HAS NO MONEY IN SIGHT

Decatur Line's South Calhoun Street Work Near Stopping Point.

Because the Fort Wayne & Springfield Interurban company's receiver has not yet put in sight any money to pay for track improvement, and its share of street paving on Calhoun street, from Rudisill boulevard to McKinnie avenue, work may be brought to a standstill at the end of the present week. The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company has the contract for constructing the track according to standard specifications and it took the job in a lump, which included the purchase of rails and ties and other material. General Manager S. W. Greenland stated Monday that unless there was shown some guarantee that the money would be forthcoming to pay the $3,700 at which the contract was taken, no further work would be done. The Grace Construction company has the contract for paving that part of Calhoun street, including the paving of that portion that must be done by the Fort Wayne & Springfield line. It has set thecurbing and completed the trench for the track. It wants to know that its money is going to come along. General Manager Greenland says that the traction company's work on Calhoun street, from Pontiac to Woodland, would be completed by Friday and that it was the intention to put the construction gang at work on the Springfield line's work. If there is not some guarantee of payment shown the gang will be discharged and the interurban line's work will not be undertaken. It is a complex situation all round, and the more so because the city's work of paving Calhoun street, from Rudisill to McKinnie will be interfered with.

COUNCIL PICNIC A SUCCESS.

Fathers of City Entertain Many at the Cripple Club.

The members of the city council were hosts Sunday at an all day picnic given at the Cripple club. They had near a hundred persons as guests. Mayor Hosey and practically all of the city officials, deputies, clerks and the like were there, and they were reinforced by a number of county officials and several candidates on the democratic county ticket. The proceedings were inaugurated before the sun was well up by a flying squadron that took out a tent, tables, chairs, ice and much else. At 9 o'clock the hosts and the advance guard of the guests arrived and took possession. Then the festivities were pulled open and continued until 6 o'clock in the evening. There were two spreads during the day—one at 1 o'clock and another at 4. Many persons were seen to avail themselves of both occasions. Several made it a single function and kept right at it from 1 to 4. There were some athletic events scheduled, but few of them were pulled off. The race carded between Capt. Eugene B. Smith, councilman from the Fourth ward, who still uses a crutch in consequence of an accident last spring, and Building Inspector Phil Wyss, who ran a rusty nail through his foot the other day, had to be called off because the building inspector refused to start unless his competitor discarded the crutch. Henry Becker, clerk of the board of works, retained the championship at pitching horseshoes, for which he has held the blue ribbon since 1871. A "kangaroo court" was established into which everybody with money was haled and fined. The proceeds are to go to charity, and the members of the council will choose the objects of this beneficence. It was altogether a very joyous occasion, the refreshments were ample and choice and altogether "a lovely time was had."

The story that Col. D. N. Foster, president of the board of park commissioners, and Frank E. Singrey, president of the board of works, went ten rounds with five-ounce gloves for points is erroneous. After being stripped and gloved for the contest the principals and their seconds were unable to agree on a referee and the match was called off. Both men were down to weight.

The Cripple club, where the picnic was held, is in a beautifully wooded tract on the left bank of the St. Joe river about a mile above Robison park.

RESTAURANT STANDARD RISES.

Inspection Now In Progress Shows Many In Gold Medal Class.

That the standard of Fort Wayne restaurants is constantly rising and that Fort Wayne has the cleanest and most sanitary eating houses in the state have received additional proof from the inspection now in progress. Chief Eugene A. Schott and Deputy Charles Josse, of the inspection division of the health department, will soon complete the examination of restaurants and if those remaining to be inspected show as well as those already disposed of Fort Wayne will stand in a class of her own in this regard. It already is indicated that more than half of the restaurants can be graded "excellent" and will thereby be entitled to rank as "gold medal" eating houses. To obtain this grade restaurants must score at least 95 per cent. out of a possible hundred points. The present inspection shows that many restaurants that graded below 80 at the last inspection have been so improved as to sanitation and cleanliness as to give them first rank. Deputy State Pure Food Inspector Hutchins, who was in Fort Wayne last week, spent some time with Inspector Schott and Deputy Josse in visiting restaurants and expressed surprise at the splendid conditions exhibited. He was astonished at the absence of flies from many of the eating houses.

Deputy State Inspector Hutchins also praised the manner in which the city market was conducted as respected sanitary regulations.

WILL GRADE PACKARD AVENUE.

Board of Works and Street Superintendent Plan Improvements.

After an inspection of Packard avenue by the board of works and street superintendent Monday morning the board ordered the street department to grade that thoroughfare, provide it with gutter drainage where necessary, to remove some trees and otherwise put the street into good condition. The street will be improved as much as possible for the winter and it is hoped that even the absence of pavement of any kind will not operate to prevent that thoroughfare from being passable until such time as the property owners feel that they can afford to have it paved. Poet's Birthplace to Be Preserved

MRS. E. L. MURFEY.

Portland, Me., Aug. 1′—The birthplace of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow will not be converted into a factory. The hand of the vandal has been warded off by a check of $12,000 raised by Mrs. Edward Murfey, of Chicago and other officers of the International Longfellow society.

Several months ago Longfellow's birthplace, the fine old colonial mansion in Portland was threatened with destruction; the owner of the property wanted to build a factory on the historic site. A plea for funds was made and the response was so generous that Mrs. Murfey, the society treasurer, now has the required amount.

The house that has long been a land mark of Portland will now be a landmark of the nation.

CITY BREVITIES

Sparks from a chimney set fire to the roof of the brick dwelling of Mrs. John Bostick, 426 East Wayne street, at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and it was necessary to call the chemical motor from No. 3 engine house to extinguish the flames. No damage is reported.

Assistant Postmaster William J. Hess and family have returned from Clear lake, where they enjoyed a week's vacation.

Dr. Fred Schulz, 1421 Broadway, has returned from Wawasee, where he has made arrangements to rebuild his cottage, which was destroyed by fire a few days ago.

LAW VIOLATOR IS SHOT BY DEPUTY

Clyde Jefferies, of Argos, is Killed by Peter Holloway, Deputy Game Warden.

Plymouth, Ind., Aug. 24.—Clyde Jefferies, of Argos, resisting arrest at Plymouth Saturday after having been caught violating the state game and fish laws by using a net in the Tippecanoe river, was shot and instantly killed by Game Deputy Peter Holloway. Jefferies was shot after he had pulled a revolver and fired at Holloway and was aiming to fire the second time.

According to Captain R. D. Fleming, of the state deputies, Holloway, with Deputy James Stonebrunner, found the man using a net in the river. The two attempted to place him under arrest, but Jefferies put up a strong resistance and running, turned to fire at Holloway. He raised his gun to fire once more, when Holloway shouted, "don't fire the second time."

Jefferies' gun failed to discharge as he attempted to shoot again and then Holloway drew his gun and fired, the contents entering Jefferies' abdomen. Holloway, it is said, was acting purely in self defense and was not taken into custody. He was formerly a resident of Fort Wayne.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 7:37-53.

37 In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink.

38 He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.

39 (But this spake he of the Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive: for the Holy Ghost was not yet given; because that Jesus was not yet glorified.)

40 Many of the people therefore, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is the Prophet.

41 Christ said, This is the Christ.

But some said, Shall Christ come outof Galilee?

42 Hath not the scripture said, That Christ cometh of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethelehem, where David was?

43 So there was a division among the people because of him.

44 And some of them would have taken him; but no man laid hands on him.

45 Then came the officers to the chief priests and Pharisees; and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Never man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived?

48 Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed on him?

49 But this people who knoweth not the law are cursed.

50 Nicodemus saith unto them, (he that came to Jesus by night, being one of them,)

51 Doth our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he doeth?

52 They answered and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search, and look: for out of Galilee ariseth no prophet.

53 And every man went unto his own house.

The New Combatant in the War

Just how important a figure Japan's declaration of war on Germany is likely to cut in the tremendous conflict of European nations will doubtless depend on whether or no Japanese operations are to be confined to Aasiatic borders. The declaration of war is not in any sense a surprise. It was a foregone conclusion from the moment Japan, more than a week ago, issued its ultimatum in which it demanded that the Germans get out of Kiao-Chau, China, and permit the restoration of that territory to China

Nobody expected Germany to acquiesce in the demand. She could not have done so without placing herself in the attitude of fearsome retreat from her position, a contingency that would have been inconceivable in the situation in which Germany now finds herself. The effect of yielding to Japanese demands would have been almost certainly fatal to German hopes elsewhere. She could do with dignity nothing else than reject the Tokio proposal.

So long as Japan adheres to its announced intention to refrain from operations against Germany in Europe or in European seas, it is difficult to see how the new combatant is going to figure importantly in the main general results of the European war. But it is the irony of fate that the nation which really taught Japan how to fight should now find itself the target for the mikado's guns.

The resignation of George A. Bittler, of Fort Wayne, as a member of the state board of accounts, because of his nomination as the democratic candidate for state treasurer, discloses a praiseworthy and tactful sense of the fitness of things. While not legally required to quit the place, Mr. Bittler felt that he should not remain on the payroll of the state in one position while campaigning for another, and the decision does him infinite credit. He has made a splendid record on the accounting board that should count much as a testimonial of his fitness for the state treasurership. His successor on the board of accounts, Rev. Thomas H. Kuhn, gives every promise of bringing to the work the same high grade of efficiency that has characterized Mr. Bittler's occupany of the place.

Members of the city council were hosts to invited guests at a picnic up along the St. Joe river Sunday, at which "a perfectly lovely time was had." Happily, the Barr street legislative body is philosopher enough to appreciate the fact that it is not well to take oneself too seriously, and that one might as well have a bit of relaxation along with work that is often arduous and usually thankless.

The pathway of the congressional candidate this year is going to be beset by a new variety of trouble just as soon as the woman suffrage organization complete and make public a "black list" which they now have in preparation. It will list all the nominees who are either squarely opposed to votes for women or who are so artfully dodging the question that nobody is able to discover where they stand on the proposition.

Five hundred Mexican diplomats stationed in various parts of the world may be expected to coincide in the clamorous opinion that the new government by Carranza is going to be a tremendously dismal failure. They have just lost their jobs, and that's a "sign" to which the man who loses usually pins the most implicit faith.

The Indiana voter is solemnly cautioned against allowing himself to become so absorbed in the European war news that he will fail to take advantage of the earliest opportunity to register this fall. In Allen county the first registration day is September 5.

PRESS ON AMERICAN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Commercial Supremacy.

Boston Advertiser: "The more quickly the United States awakens to its opportunities in South America the more firmly may a foundation for our commercial supremacy there be established."

Appealing for Aid.

Rochester Post-Express: "South America is not only willing to buy of us, but is appealing to this country to aid her in meeting the situation created when most of the supply of manufactured products which she has been receiving from Europe was shut off."

The Conclusion.

Columbia State: "If the United States does not succeed in establishing a great commerce with South America and the orient during the next few months the inevitable conclusion will be that commercial success is what the United States does not deserve."

New Era This Year.

Baltimore American: "A new and greater era of growth and development for this New World hemisphere begins with this year 1914. The two Americas must stand together for American ideals in government, and they must get together in closer trade affiliations."

Opportunities Greater.

Albany Knickerbocker Press: "The opportunity of American bankers and merchants and shippers, backed by the American government, to obtain trade advantages of South America are now greater than we had ever before dreamed of."

A Common Cause.

Philadelphia Ledger: "It is an hour when all partisan bias can be stifled and when all parties may unite in a common cause for their country's lasting good."

Start Can Be Made.

Syracuse Post Standard: "An American merchant navy cannot be improvised, but a start can be made at the present moment which will be of enormous importance hereafter to American trade."

Should Get Busy.

New York Tribune: "Cotton and woollen manufacturers, the big steel companies, the shoemakers and many others should cease temporarily their clamoring for protection and get busy. The markets of the world belong to them, at least temporarily."

CENSORING THE CENSORS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

It is useless to expect the lifting of the embargo put upon news telegrams by somebody in all the countries which are at war, but it may be the pleasure of the newspapers which have been unwillingly and protestingly made a party to sins of omission and of commission to make a note of the identity of the censors and their abettors and one day visit upon them a deserved retribution.

The day will come when conditions will defy censorship, when there ill be mighty political readjustments on account of the wars, when the peace correspondent will not have all the avenues to vital activities closed to him as they are now to the war correspondents, and when the news purveyors who are now gagged by censors and by "army orders" will be transformed into free lances of censorship. It will then be their pleasure, under the direction of their journals, to make the aftermath of the carnage more abundant though less ghastly than the harvest of death and robbery of homes and territory.

The present censorship is inexcusable from any point of view. The captains of each army and the governments they represent are at all times aware of the movements of the "enemy." They do not wait for information through the columns of the newspapers. They know the position of all the armies, or whether a fight has made for a victory or the reverse. As the whole world is affected, it would be merely common decency to let the world know what they know without those deceptions and evasions which are all speedily discovered and made ground for contempt.

A Human Story from Belgian Battlefields

Staff Correspondent in the Heart of Fighting Zone, Tells of Blood, Carnage and Destruction Everywhere.

(By H. P. Burton.)

(Staff Cable Dispatch, Copyright, 1914, Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

London, Aug. 24.—What is the actual fighting like in the very heart of the great European war?

What is there to be seen in the villages, along the roads, in the fields? How do people in the homes, in the streets, in the country places take it?

I am just a plain American citizen who has never seen war! I have always lived in the peace of Cleveland, Ohio, mostly, and in Chicago and New York.

Could I not go to this scene of horror and devastation and tell the folks at home, my country people, something definite, something of human interest, something that would interest them more than the dull, heavy mass of cable dispatches about fighting, skirmishes, troop movements and the like? Could I, who had always lived where there was peace, not tell them just how terrible this war is?

I said I'd try.

Burton Goes Over to Belgium to See.

So I went to Belgium and now I am just back in London to cable exactly what I saw.

In performing my task I succeeded in penetrating to within a dozen miles of Liege, to a point where the sky was alight with fire, the air acrid with powder and the whole arch of the heavens reverberating with the thunderclap of cannon.

It had been easy to reach Brussels. I sailed from Folkstone, England, to Ostend, the famous resort on the Belgian coast.

The trip to Brussels through the marshlands was uneventful, the train but ten minutes late.

But in Brussels I began to notice the first active signs of war raging so terribly from Liege westward. The great Palace hotel at Brussels had already been turned into an immense hospital and big Red Cross signs were painted in every window.

I was at once sent to the bureau of the gendarmerie, on Boulevard Waterloo, to declare myself, and there I requested a pass to Liege.

"How shall I get to the front?" I asked a sergeant. "Automobiles are $50 a day."

"The trains are still running," he he laughed. "The Germans can't hurt us; Belgium is still the greatest summer resort in the world!"

Setting Fire to Their Own Golden Wheat.

So I bought a second-class ticket to Louvan, fifteen miles away, then still the seat of the Belgian army.

The ride to Louvain began to tell me how very terrible this European war is going to be. Everywhere I saw farmers setting fire to their ripening wheat fields so the hated Germans could get no food—could get not even a dry kernel of hunger-satisfying wheat.

Along the roads motors filled with armed soldiers were passing this way and that, and armed messengers on bicycles rushed back and forth to the forts between Brussels and Lauvaia with dispatches from the government to the army.

Belgian, French and English flags decorated all houses and groups of Belgian peasants stood at every corner discussing "the terrible war news."

Just outside Louvain the train suddenly came to a standstill and a squad of Belgian cavalry came along guarding several Uhlans (Germany cavalrymen), who were laughing and joking with their captors while cigarettes hung impudently from their lips.

The Uhlans' uniform is a dusty green, so that they melt into the landscape and are bad targets for the enemy.

Gay Soldiers, Playing Children.

At Louvain, the streets were fairly choked with soldiers. They marched along the sidewalks, drank before the cafes, played checkers on the curbs or dashed about in automobiles, but everywhere children were running and playing as usual, and pretty milliners stood in doorways awaiting for some one to buy the hats they had intended to sell to the American tourists this summer.

In front of the Hotel de Villa, which the Belgians had taken over as an army barracks, stood ten stacks of rifles, fifteen feet high, and in the quaint courtyard were two great military field wagons which were being personally guarded by Belgian officers. These wagons were filled with valuable records ready to fly north to the capital or Antwerp on an instant's notice.

While waiting for my passport to be examined before proceeding to Tirlemont, I noticed a black speck in the sky. It slowly grew into a giant aeroplane. There was a general rush into the streets and cries:

"Cest un aeroplane allemand;" (It is a German aeroplane.)

Then followed a subdued hush as the winged cruiser hung over the city hall. But the expected bomb did not fall, and soon checker games were resumed and milliners came back to the doorways smiling, but still doubtful smiles, and with many a pretty, anxious peek upward.

The cafes alone were doing business in Louvain. They were crowded and cries, "Un grand bock" (a big beer), filled the air and the fumes of liquor hung heavy.

Everywhere the less seriously wounded Belgian soldiers lay, awaiting aid.

The train for Tirlemont, filled with these soldiers, was held five minutes while a body of Boy Scouts passed the water to them.

Boy Scouts Pass Water to Wounded Soldiers.

The Boy Scouts (Belgian pronunciation "scots") range from one end of the train to the other, for every wounded soldier wants all the water he can get. At the front they got only two drinks daily.

At the front, from Tirlemont on, I realized I was truly in the heart of the most embattled country the world has seen.

Devastation is on every hand.

Most of this devastation in Belgium was carefully prepared by the Belgians themselves. This country is all flat, and each wood where the Germans might take refuse in future charges was cut down. I saw soldiers everywhere burning underbrush that might serve the Germans as bulwarks.

It was sickening to see the beautiful golden grain, all ready for the reaper, going down before the flames.

Deep trenches, filled with boughs and covered lightly with dirt, were being prepared as traps.

Silk-Lined Limousine and Little Ford Stained With Blood.

Bridges were being undermined to fall when the weight of the German troops came upon them.

The roads here swarmed with commandeered [illegible] soldiers, rushing to the front, or of wounded being brought back, each always guarded by carbineers standing up behind, rifles in hand.

There were scores upon scores of captured German Uhlans in evidence at this point, and they always seemed very gay, unless badly wounded. Their tents, thatched with straw, are everywhere.

The fields every which way I look are one series of trenches thrown up as defenses against the enemy. Trees are thrown across roads, and barb wire entanglements reach across the land for miles.

One whole stretch of enchanted wood is filled with horrible traps and barbs that will strike back Teutonic invasion.

But the most noticeable thing is the gaiety. The Belgian troops have the perfect confidence in their prowess. All sorts of messages are chalked on trains and houses. The favorite one is "A Berlin!" meaning "On to Berlin."

An equally popular message, because it is chalked everywhere, is:

"The kaiser has mobilized God, but he can't make him march!"

From Landen to Waremme the train scarcely moved, and here we found that the German outposts were only a half hour ahead of us. Indeed, they had once taken the town of Waremme, but lost it back to Belgium.

Cook Every Meal to Music of Cannonading.

The peasants were again in their homes peacefully cooking the evening meal as though a deafening cannonade were a common thing. So I took heart myself and went into the cafe Lion d'Or for supper.

There I met the burgomaster of Liege, himself on parole from the Germans. I tried to draw him into conversation, but he was too sad.

"I can not speak," he said; "it is too sad. My citizens are being harassed by the Germans. It is terrible! But we shall have revenge," and he smiled a little.

"The English will help us now. When they get here we shall see!"

As the train started back to Brussels and safety, night came on and the sky in the east glowed with the German campfires. But through the air, mixing with revelry, were Belgian voices singing the national hymn.

MAGICAL EFFECT OF NEW FACE PEELER.

To maintain a clear, white, youthful complexion, there's nothing so simple to use and yet so effective as ordinary mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store. Just apply the wax at night as you would cold cream. In the morning wash it off with warm water. If you've never tried it you can't imagine the magical effect of this harmless home treatment. It causes the old worn-out scarf skin to come off in minute particles, a little at a time, and soon you have entirely shed the offensive cuticle. The fresh young underskin now in evidence is so healthy and girlish looking, so free from any appearance of artificiality, you wonder why you had not heard of this marvelous complexion renewing secret long ago.

Equally magical in its action is a simple wrinkle removing lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in this for two or three minutes immediately affects every line and furrow and improves facial contour wonderfully.

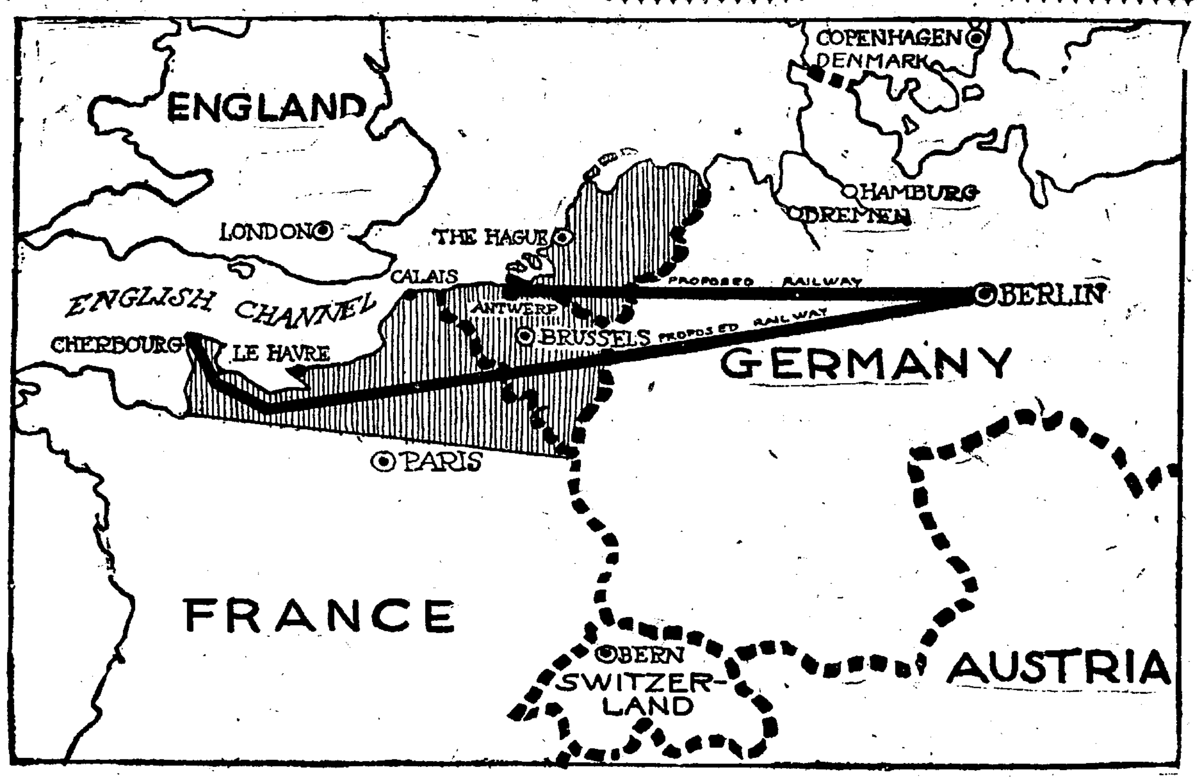
IF GERMANY WINS, MUST ENGLAND PLAY PIPER? REPORTED PLAN OF KAISER WOULD MAKE GERMANY GREATEST POWER.



SHADED SECTION OF WAP SHOWS WHAT GERMANS SAY THE KAISER WILL TAKE IF HE WINS.

Why were all the nations so eager to disclaim responsibility for starting the war?

Were they only anxious to justify themselves to the world from a humane point of view?

Not entirely. At the end of the war some one—the whipped ones—WILL HAVE A BIG BILL TO PAY—A BILL WHICH ON CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE IS ROLLING UP AT THE RATE OF $50,000,000 A DAY.

That bill will be treasure and territory!

The billion dollars cash and the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine which Germany received from France in 1871, when compared to the tribute demanded in 1914, will look like change from a newsboy.

The carefully worked out plans which, as everyone knows Germany made years ago for the present war, did not only include tactics and strategy but, in their completeness, the aftermath, the reconstruction period as well.

Exactly what the kaiser will demand in the event of victory is known only to himself and his intimate advisers but popular belief in Germany foreshadows the government's plans which begin with England.

Britain, the kaiser has said, might have kept out of the war with honor. But England chose to interfere. Its fleets tend to disrupt the kaiser's plans. Hence, the Germans say, ENGLAND MUST PAY, and if defeated will be levied upon for the bulk of the indemnity needed to reimburse the victors.

Belgium for its resistance, will be absorbed into the empire as Alsace-Lorraine was. The port of Antwerp has always been longed for by Germans. Holland will be gobbled for its tidy lot of colonies.

France, failing to get its revenge from 1871, will pay for 1914 with another big bag of money and large slices of territory. This time, according to German statements, the penalty will be A LARGE CHUNK OF ITS NORTHERN SEA COAST from Belgium to Cherbourg.

Look at the map and see what such spoils of war mean. England's "splendid isolation" will become a memory. Instead of being guarded by two neutral buffer states, most of its eastern sea coast will be perpetually menaced by a powerful neighbor, Germany. The indemnity demanded will be large enough to prevent Britain from setting the naval pace in naval armament. Germany will become mistress of the seas.

France will be crushed. German occupation of the seacoast will make a cavalry raid on Paris, in the event of trouble, a matter of hours.

From a commercial point of view the advantages to Germany are even greater. To an all German route from America, or the Orient, to Berlin will be shortened 24 hours. Instead of being forced to navigate the channel and North Sea to Hamburg, or Bremen, fast liners from New York and from the far east by way of the Panama canal, will land passengers at Cherbourg where they will be whisked, by German trains over a new railroad direct from Cherbourg to Berlin.

Germany, having control of the best continental harbors will control the vast channel trade between England and Europe. All passengers and freight for France and the interior will first pass over German territory.

Antwerp will have its uses. It will continue to be the greatest commercial harbor of the continent and here German freighters will discharge cargoes brought from all over the world into German territory without making the tedious run into the North Sea. Rotterdam and other Dutch and Flemish ports will continue to get a share of trade but under the German flag.

JAP EMPEROR'S WAR RESCRIPT

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The emperor of Japan has declared war upon Germany. This action was taken at the expiration of the time limit of Japan's ultimatum to Germany, demanding the surrender of Kiao Chow.

The Japanese government has ordered the beginning of operations on land and sea. The text of the imperial rescript is:

"Issued at Tokio, August 23, six p. m.

"We by the grace of Heaven, epmeror of Japan, seated on the throne occupied by the same dynasty from time immemorial do hereby make the following proclamation to all Our Loyal and brave subjects:

"We hereby declare war against Germany and we command our army and navy to carry on hostilities against that empire with their strength and we also command all our competent authorities to make every effort in pursuance of thaeir respective duties to attain the national aim, by all means within the limits of the law of nations.

"Since the outbreak of the present war in Europe, calamitous effect of which we view with grave concern, We on our part have entertained hopes of preserving the peace of the far east by the maintenance of strict neutrality, but the action of Germany has at length compelled Great Britain, Our ally, to open hostilities against that country and Germany is at Kiao Chow, its leased territory in China, busy with warlike preparations, while its armed vessels cruising the seas of eastern Asia, are threatening our commerce and that of Our ally. Peace of the far east is thus in jeopardy.

"Accordingly, Our government and that of his Britannic majesty, after full and frank communication with each other agreed to take such measures as may be necessary for the protection of the general interests contemplated in the agreement of alliance and we on our part being desirous to attain that object of peaceful means commanded Our government to offer with sincerity our advice to the imperial German government. By the last day appointed for the purpose, however, Our government failed to receive an answer accepting their advice. It is with profound regret that We, in spite of Our ardent devotion to the cause of peace, are thus compelled to declare war especially at this early period of Our reign and while We are still in mourning for Our lamented mother.

"It is our earnest wish that by the loyalty and valor of Our faithful subjects, peace may soon be restored and the glory of the empire enhanced."

Conferences have been held daily recently by the privy council and officers of the army and navy. The cabinet arranged plans which will be gazeted tomorrow.

TWO CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Two Others Badly Injured When Big Ice Box Collapses.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Mathias Watson, 46 years old, was killed and two other men badly hurt when an old ice box they were trying to move from a dairy plant collapsed here late yesterday.

To all outward appearance the ice box was a huge wooden affair of no particular weight. The box, however, was lined with cork and was damp and heavy. It also was covered with a heavy layer of damp sawdust. Two of the men were inside the ice box when it broke down.

Martin Family Reunion.

The seventh reunion of the Martin family was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, whose residence is two miles east of Monroeville. Mr. Martin has attained the venerable age of ninety and a feature of the reunion of special interest to him was an address by County Commissioner Jasper Jones, whose first school teacher was Mr. Martin. There were other features of an informal program that gave both Mr. and Mrs. Martin much pleasure too. There was a talk by Rev. Mr. Crabbs, of Monroeville, and another by Rev. Mr. Hollopeter. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Martin, of this city, delighted the entire company by singing a duet and Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Newark, O., and Mrs. Crabbs in a duet and solo by Arthur Hume were followed by the entire company singing a hymn. Mrs. Crabbs and Mrs. Mattie VanBuskirk gave recitations. No new officers were elected, those already in charge being requested to continue. The forbears of this particular branch of the Martin family were Pennsylvania Germans.

Ten grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are Charlie, Kenneth and Lucile Briner, Mrs. George Sanders, from near Huntington; Bruce S. Peigh, of this city; Floyd B. AT THE MAJESTIC.

The Advance Sale Opens Big for "The Light Eternal."

In spite of the fact that over twenty performances of "The Light Eternal" have been given in this city, the interest in the play does not seem to wane. Whether it is because of the fact that the management will give a percentage of the receipts to the Red Cross fund in response to President Wilson's appeal, or whether it is the play itself, it is hard to determine, but the indications are that it will come up to its former record. This is very gratifying to the managers, both of the company and the house, as it is their desire to add to the worthy cause a check that will compare favorably with any which may be received from a like source in any city.

The company has had the play in preparation for the past two weeks and is fit and ready to give a performance which will be up to the high standard set in its former productions here. Carpenters, machinists and electricians have been hard at work putting the finishing touches to the scenic investure and all is now in readiness for its first presentation on Tuesday afternoon. The box office is now open and the sale of seats going on. Secure your seats early, see an excellent play and help a good cause.

AT THE EMPRESS

That Fort Wayne people like the Marcus Loew vaudeville and the new scale of prices at the Empress theater, was demonstrated this afternoon when the playhouse was crowded to the doors by a wildly enthusiastic audience. The occasion was the opening of the Empress for the season and the first appearance in this city of the famous Marcus Loew vaudeville.

It has been frequently stated that Mr. Loew makes up his bills with the idea of having comedy predominate, because he figures that American audiences much prefer to laugh than to cry. This idea of Mr. Loew's is certainly well demonstrated in this opening bill at the Empress, which will be in view there until the new bill opens on Thursday matinee. The present bill is filled to the brim with comedy and the big audience at the Empress this afternoon fairly howled with delight.

The big hit of the bill was "Who Is She?" a comedy sketch of the liveliest possible nature, which is put on by James E. Bernard and Hazel Harrington. The sketch is so lively and surprising to explain it would be to spoil it for those who have not yet seen it. Everyone should go to the Empress the fore part of the week, if only to see this act.

McIntosh and his maids present a fine musical number and the Nichols Nelson troupe does some marvelous things with hoops and diabolos. Fred Hillebrand, a very tall comedian, has a funny line of conversation, while Hoyt and Wardell also have much humor in their sketch, "The Italian and the Boss." Davis and Mathews are sensational exponents of the modern dances and they made a big hit, too.

FARMER DROWNS IN EVERETT LAKE

Suffered Cramps After Having Saved Small Stepson from Water.

Stricken with an attack of cramps shortly after having saved his small stepson, Raymond Dickson, from drowning at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Everett lake, Jasper Cornwell, aged forty-two years, a farmer, sank beneath the surface and drowned before help could be obtained. Cornwell was a tenant on the farm of Frank Brown, on the Lettig road near the Allen-Whitley county line.

Mr. and Mrs. ornwell with two sons, Theodore and Raymond, drove to the lake to spend Sunday and the man and boys went bathing early in the afternoon. Raymond, unable to swim, got into deep water but was held up by Cornwell until other bathers came and took the boy to the shore. Just as he released his hold upon the lad he threw up his hands and went under.

The body was found a short time later and removed with grappling hooks. Coroner E. H. Kruse with Detective Martin Rundell, of the police department, and Deputy Sheriff Witte went to the lake in an automobile and had the body removed to the residence.

AT THE TEMPLE

The all-Keith vaudeville season at the Temple theater is on. It is the tenth and last year for this popular play shop in the short order entertainment field and the management, judging by the current bill, is out to make it a brilliant finish. This bill, which includes such classy acts as Lew Hawkins, the veteran minstrel man; Allman and Nevins, Jack Kennedy and company, Marcou and a wealth of others, will close Wednesday night to be succeeded by another of the Temple's all-star layouts. Hawkins, the old time black face king, is right up to the minute with all his sonugs and stories. He has a long rigamorole on the European war situation that is a positive scream and his new and original parodies get over big. "The Tenor and the Country Girl Fiddler" is as novel a skit as one will encounter in many a trip to a vaudeville house, while Jack Kennedy's Irish comedy sketch, "O'Ttoole's Generosity," is a rare bit of fun that scored a real hit in three shows yesterday. Marcou's wonderful shadowgraph stuff never grows old, as he never seems to reach a limit with his novelties in this line. The Six Abdallahs put on a peppery, snappy ground-tumbling act that is a positive delight. Coupled with this sterling array of straight vaudeville the Temple is showing the crack Mutual weekly films, an education themselves in the current events of the world. The same split week scheme of operation will obtain this season as last, and Thursday will find an entirely new bill on the boards.

GIANT ARMIES WAGE DESPERATE STRUGGLE

Paris, Aug. 24.—10:50 a. m.—The following official announcement was made here today:

"The great battle between the greater portion of the forces of England and France against the bulk of the German army continues today.

"The mission of the English and the French is to hold virtually the entire German army in Belgium, while our Russian allies pursue their success in the east."

The Russians occupy territory fifty miles wide on the German frontier.

After a great victory the Servians have made safe Austrian territory to the north of them.

Germans Occupy Nancy.

A rumor is in circulation in Paris this morning that the Germans have occupied the unfortified town of Nancy. This report, however, lacks confirmation.

BIG GUNS BATTER FORTS AT LIEGE

London, Aug. 24.—In a dispatch from Rotterdam the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that after many days of quiet, sounds of the vigorous bombardment of Liege reached the frontier near Maestricht on Sunday. They were heard for hours and indicated that the Germans are making a tremendous effort to clear this long standing danger from their line of supply and that to this end they had brought their heaviest howitzers into action.

Fugitives report, the correspondent continues, that the Liege forts have caused great inconvenience to the Germans by destroying their pontoon bridges over the Meuse.

The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from Antwerp saying that a Belgian who succeeded in getting to Liege and back reports that the Germans have built eight pontoon bridges across the Meuse between Liege and the Dutch frontier.

Nancy is the capital of the department of Meurtha and Mosselle, 35 miles south of Metz, on the bank of the river Meurthe. It is about ten miles from the German frontier. It is one of the finest and best built towns in France, and has a population of over 90,000. Of the ancient fortifications of the town, only the citadel has been preserved.

The Matin today quotes a German prisoner at Montpelier as follows:

"Your French artillery is admirable. It destroyed in a few minutes intrenchments which we spent three days in making. The greater portion of our men were killed, while others rushed to the rear with frightened cries as if some supernatural force had intervened against them.

"I am glad to be a prisoner: it is better than being under the yoke of German officers."

MOVE WITH GREAT SPEED.

Two German Columns Sweep Southward Toward Valenciennes.

London, Aug. 24.—The Ostend correspondent of the Daily Mail says that the German columns are marching southward toward Valenciennes on the Scheldt, thirty-one miles southeast of Lille, one proceeding by way of Ninove and Grammont and Lessinesa, Belgium, and the other going by way of Hal, Braine-le-Comte and Mons, Belgium. They are moving with great speed.

Further nortawest advanced parties have appeared and done damage successively at Thielt and Lichtervelde. It is suggested that this means a dash upon Roubaix, one of the wealthiest of French towns or upon Lille. In that case the movement toward Valenciennes probably would be an encircling one.

An Exchange Telegraph company dispatch from Nish, referring to the Servian victory on the Drina, says the Servian artillery sank a number of the enemy's boats, including eight transport carrying troops. The dispatch says the Austrians are marching on the banks of the Drina and are preparing for a desperate attempt to regain lost ground.

A dispatch from Paris to the Daily Mail says:

"Former Premier Clementau continues his campaign against the government policy of withholding from the public the whole truth in the war news." General Pan is the hero of the hour. He is seventy years old and has only one arm, having lost the other in the war of 1870. He was recalled to active service in an advisory capacity and appeared with the army in Alsace. He was to have taken personal charge of the operations at Muelhausen."

REGISTRATION IS THE BIG SUBJECT

Democratic Meeting is to Be Held Saturday Afternoon.

Secretary Otto Koenig, of the democratic central committee, of Allen county, announces that the meeting of candidates and voters at headquarters this week is to be held Saturday afternoon and not Saturday evening, as announced last week by Chairman W. A. Johnson. At this time the committeemen will be given instructions concerning the registration of voters at the extra period, to be held September 5.

It is regarded by all local political leaders, representing all parties, that registration is the one all-important subject at this time and attention to getting out a heavy registration will be given carefully.

Drum Corps Meeting.

The drum corps of the Jefferson club will meet Monday night at headquarters for the purpose of arranging a field day program to be held at Centlivre park, Sunday, September 6. The county candidates will also be present. President Jerre O'Connor states that it is important that the candidates and committeemen interest themselves in the program to make the day a success.

Progressive Meeting.

A meeting of progressive voters who are residents of the Sixth ward is to be held Friday evening, August 28, at the home of J. M. Young, 3135 Thompson avenue, at which time it is hoped to complete the progressive organization in the Sixth ward.

LEVY WAR FINES AS PUNISHMENT

London, Aug. 24.—4:50 a. m.—The Daily Mail's Rotterdam correspondent quotes an article from the Cologne Gazette in justification of the fines levied on Brussels and Liege, as follows:

"The war tribute is a punishment for the bad treatment of Germans by Belgium two weeks ago, when innocent Germans at Brussels were handed over to the tender mercies of the mob.

"What happened there will ever be a stain on the honor of the Belgian people. We deliberated as to what would be a fitting requital and it seems that to punish is impracticable, except by legal process. Another measure possible is a war tax allowed by the law of nations.

"She must suffer all the burdens allowed by the legal right of law, such as quartering troops and furnishing supplies, until all her resources are exhausted, so that the citizens can feel personally that hunting defenseless women is different from having an enemy in their own homes.

"The legal punishment for the offenses of the Belgians will be imposed as fully as allowed by law."

YOUNG LADIES TRY BASE BALL AS PART OF THE WALTHER LEAGUE PICNIC AMUSEMENT PROGRAM.

Girls, tight skirts, a miniature gale and a torrid sun are combinations that militate against base ball as exemplified by young ladies. These elements broke up the girls, game that was part and parcel of a most interesting program given by the Fort Wayne Walther leaguers at their picnic in Bleke's grove on Sunday.

The girls had agreed to play and they were game and really did start but throwing and running are not for girls and after they had shown they were true to their promise they stopped with the score—Well nobody knows. In the accompanying illustrations the girls who agreed to play are shown but some of them hired substitutes and there were changes before the nines took the field.

There was a fine attendance and the committee in charge of the affair did all the members could think of to make the day pleasant and there was an athletic program following the Concordia-Zion base ball game in the forenoon which went to Concordia in a hot contest ten to nine, giving the winners the Walther league pennant.

In the track events the results were:

100-yard dash—Slagle, first; Bartels, second, and Brant, third.

50-yard dash for girls—R. Klingenberger, first; H. Walda, second, and E. Walda, third.

220-yard dash—Bartels, first; Brant, second, and Reinking, third.

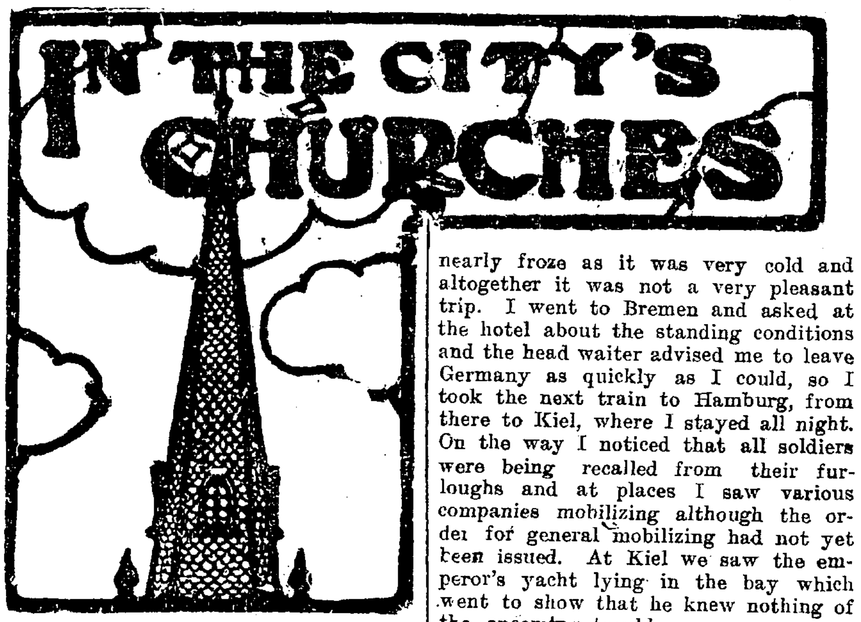
Clothes pin race for girls—H. Walda, first; E. Walda, second, and A. Helmke, third.

Running broad jump—Slagle, first; Rose, second, and Humbrecht, third.

Hop-step-and-jump—Humbrecht, first; Baade, second, and Slagle, third.

Three-legged race—Won by Rose and Lerch pair.

The outing had for its object a better acquaintance among the league members to insure co-operation in the good work in which they are engaged and the results were highly satisfactory to the committees in charge.



PAY LARGE SUM FOR HIS PASSAGE

Rev. Henry Katt Tells Story of His Escape from Germany.

Rev. Henry Katt, formerly of this city and who is now located in Terre Haute as pastor of the Emmanuel's Lutheran church and who is now visiting his son, August C. Katt, of 1633 Oakland street, of this city, tells of his escape from Germany where he was visiting when war broke out. By luck he secured first class passage securing the last ticket for which he paid the handsome price of 350 crowns, which approximately is $450 in United States money.

Following is the story of his escape and experiences in his own words:

"When I arrived in Germany everything was peaceful and I spent several weeks in the northern part of the country visiting friends and relatives. I came to Aurich, Germany, on Sunday morning, July 13, and while at the breakfast table in the hotel received the news that Russia had declared war against Austria. We all knew that Germany would be implicated and a traveling man said that he was going to leave for Hanover as quickly as possible for if Germany's army were mobilized he would have to remain for many weeks. This applied to myself but due to several reasons I could not leave immediately.

"Monday morning I had to hire a farmer's wagon to convey me to the nearest railroad station [illegible] nearly froze as it was very cold and altogether it was not a very pleasant trip. I went to Bremen and asked at the hotel about the standing conditions and the head waiter advised me to leave Germany as quickly as I could, so I took the next train to Hamburg, from there to Kiel, where I stayed all night. On the way I noticed that all soldiers were being recalled from their furloughs and at places I saw various companies mobilizing although the order for general mobilizing had not yet been issued. At Kiel we saw the emperor's yacht lying in the bay which went to show that he knew nothing of the oncoming trouble.

"I hurried to Copenhagen, where I awaited developments, expecting to return to Germany as I had paid for my return fare on a German vessel in advance. But conditions became worse and worse and fearing that Denmark would also be implicated, I hurried to the Scandinavian steamship company, where by sheer luck I secured the last first cabin ticket for which they charged me 350 crowns. Everyone was anxious and none knew until twelve hours before sailing whether the ship would be allowed to leave. We left on August 6, taking a northern route past Christiana, north of Scotland, and past the Orkney islands, which are in the same latitude as the southern point of Greenland. The weather was very uncomfortable and the sea was very rough.

"The ship United States, on which we sailed, was stopped after a day's journey from Copenhagen and everyone feared that we would have to return, but the cause of the delay was explained by the fact that some of the officers on board ship belonged to the national guard and were called back. Anxiety was present during the entire trip and everyone was glad when the statue of Liberty came in sight.

"Many well to do people had to be contented with steerage passage across, among which were many clergymen, financiers and also the ex-mayor of Seattle, who had attended the Good Templars' convention at Christiana. When the ship left Copenhagen the wharf was crowded with people who sang the national hymn of Norway and the Americans on board ship responded with the song, 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.' I am indeed thankful that I arrived back safe and sound to the country which I call the land of sunshine and starlight."

TWO SERMONS WERE GIVEN.

Large Crowds Present at Celebration of [illegible]

[illegible] versary of the dedication of the Concordia Lutheran church held Sunday at the house of worship two sermons of interest were delivered, one in the morning by Rev. August Lange and one in the evening by Rev. Baur. Both services were attended by large audiences who listened attentively to the sermons and to the special music prepared for the occasion.

Rev. Lange, whose discourse was in the German language, chose for his text, "The House of Worship," taken from Psalms 26, 18. He offered thanks for the preservation of the church and earnestly urged his listeners to respect the house of God and to attend all the public services. He touched briefly upon the history of the congregation.

Rev. John Baur, who spoke in the evening gave a sermon in English on the subject, "The Loyalty of the Lutheran Christian to His Church." In general his sermon touched upon the same points as did Rev. Lange's in the morning. He pleaded for lives of usefulness to the church and of service and help to one's fellowmen.

Paid Tribute to Pius X.

All the sermons delivered Sunday at the Catholic churches in the city were devoted to the late Pope Pius X. and touching tributes were paid him. Rev. J. R. Quinlan, of the Cathedral, in his discourse brought out and emphasized the motto of the beloved pontiff which was, "To Restore All Things to Christ." In an interesting manner he reviewed his life from his childhood days until his demise last Thursday, in which he portrayed the great virtues which characterized his holiness.

Failed to Keep Appointments.

Miss Victoria [illegible] Booth Clibborn who [illegible] worship failed to appear and address the audiences which had gathered to hear her. JAPAN TSRIKES ITS FIRST BLOW QUICKLY

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The Yamato in an extra edition today says that the bombardment of Tsing Tau by the Japanese fleet has commenced. This message was passed by the censor of the navy department.

A unanimous approval of the war, which is calmly and dispassionately discussed, summarizes public opinion. The newspapers express regret over the necessity of hostilities with Germany and urge the public to refrain from exhibiting resentment toward the Germans in Japan.

They print messages of cheer to the army and navy who they hope will be quickly victorious. An imperial messenger went to the shrines of Ise to inform the spirits of the imperial ancestors of Japan's declaration of war. It is announced that a flock of white doves descended on the roof of the imperial sanctuary at the moment of the expiration of the ultimatum to Germany and this is accepted as an omen of speedy victory.

The Ladies' Patriotic association with a membership of 100,000, is sending to the volunteer nurses comfort packages for the soldiers and will provide for the families of those who have been called to the service. The Red Cross society is equipping a hospital ship.

Communication between Japan and China has been severed for 24 hours. Except for meagre news that has reached here from New York the entire country is kept in the dark regarding the progress of the war in Europe. It is believed that the cable between Shanghai and Nagasaki has been cut. The officers of the army and navy are absolutely sphynx-like regarding the events of the China sea. Everything is quiet here the attitude of the public appearing almost indifferent.

Break in Relations Between Germany and Japan Very Simple Matter.

Berlin, (Via Copenhagen), Aug. 24.—2:20 p. m.—The rupture of relations between Japan and Germany was effected in a simple manner.

A representative of the German ministry of foreign affairs proceeded Sunday to the Japanese embassy and handed the Japanese charge d'affaires his passports with the verbal remark that Germany had no response to make to Japan's ultimatum concerning the surrender of Kiao Chow.

The Japanese representative turned his embassy and its archieves over to the protection of the American ambassador.

THE FORT WAYNE EVENING SENTINEL'S SPORT PAGE

SEASON OF 1914 IS RECORD YEAR

Major Leagues Have Done More Trading Than Ever Known Before.

New York, Aug. 24.—The baseball season of 1914, already noted as a period of unusual occurrences in the national sport, promises to establish a record for the purchase and exchange of players in the big leagues. Omitting entirely any reference to the sensational trades and purchases which preceded the opening of the pennant races, the present season has been an exceptional one in this respect. With the exception of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics every club in both the American and National leagues has made unusual efforts toward strengthening one or more departments by means of exchange or cash transactions. Not alone have the minor associations been invaded but big league clubs have dealt with each other to an extent greater than has been the case in other years.

In the American league Boston secured Egan, Shore and Ruth from the Baltimore club of the International; Hoblitzel from Cincinnati; Vean Gregg from Cleveland in exchange for Coumbe, R. Johnson and Egan, as well as several minor leagues and college players. The Chicago White Sox have signed or released to date an even dozen players, not including Hal Chase, who jumped to the Buffalo Federals. The dealing, however, has been confined to the minor and college class, although Comiskey holds the present season record in his purchase of Fielder Felch from Milwaukee of the American association, at $12,000 cash and two players.

The New York Americans have purchased, exchanged or released sixteen players since April 14. Some of the big league material secured includes Catcher Nunamaker from Boston Americans, Pitcher Carroll Brown from the Athletics in addition to Birdie Cree from Baltimore Internationals. Cleveland is another club which has dipped deeply into the players' mart. Close to twenty players have been bought, sold, exchanged or lost by desertion this season. A majority of these transactions involved minor leagues, the principal major league deal being with the Boston Americans, whereby Pitcher Vean Gregg went to the Red Sox in exchange for Pitchers Coumbes and Johnson and Catcher Ben Egan.

Aside from the purchase of two minor league players and the release of Catcher Gibson the Detroit club has stood pat to date and the same may be said of Clarke Griffith's Washington combination. The Capitol club purchased Outfielder Mike Mitchell from the Pittsburg Nationals, released Pitchers Collier and Cashion and secured J. E. Blair from the Martinsburg (W. Va.) club. The St. Louis Browns released two players and purchased one for future delivery.

Far more activity in this direction has been shown in the National league. The Cincinnati club record shows that close to thirty players have figured in one way or another in club deals or jumped to the Federal league. Claude Derrick was bought from Baltimore and then traded to Chicago for First Baseman Mollowitz. Hoblitzel went to the Boston Americans and Tex Erwin from Brooklyn to Cincinnati and back again. Bert Daniels, former Yankee, and part of Jack Dunn's $60,000 Baltimore International league assets found his way to the Cincinnati club, to say nothing of a number of minor league and college players.

Pittsburg scouts, too, have been busy and the Pirates have thirteen deals of one kind or another to their credit. Aside from the deal with Washington whereby Mike Mitchell was sold, the transaction involved the purchase or release of players from or to minor leagues. The Philadelphia Nationals have ten transactions on record, the principal one being the trade of Josh Devore to Boston for Third Baseman John Martin. Boston records show some thirteen deals the major transfers including the sale of George Beck to the Cleveland Americans the trading of Hub Perdue to St. Louis for Players Whitted and Cather and John Devore's acquisition for John Martin.

The Chicago Cubs have eleven transactions in the record. Eliminating the minor league purchases and releases, the schedule shows that Pitcher Koestner was sold to Cincinnati and First Baseman Mollewitz traded to the same club for Claude Derrick. The St. Louis Cardinals have held fairly steady to the early season enrollment. Hagerman was sold to the Chicago Nationals and Witted and Cather traded to Boston for Pitcher Perdue. The other deals involve minor league players.

The New York Giants have a list of thirteen players signed or released this season, but not in a single case does another major league club figure in the dealing. Brooklyn's principal efforts in this direction include the sale of Kraft to Boston, Riggert to St. Louis, Erwin to Cincinnati and Smith to Boston.

ROWAN TO STICK IN THE CENTRAL

Probably Will Not Get a Chance to Go Up in Base Ball.

(Special to The Sentinel).

Dayton, O., Aug. 24.—In framing up a club for next season the management of the Dayton pennant winners are counting on Jack Rowan as a member of the pitching staff as it is practically certain he will not get another chance in faster company, having been thrice returned to the Vets following two starts in the majors.

He demonstrated by winning 4 to 3 the opening clash of a bargain bill at the park here Sunday that he has plenty of good class B pitching left in him and possibly he could make good in class A or AA, but he refuses to pitch in any organization other than the majors or with Dayton, and this determination is probably costing him some money, but the fact that when he is with the Vets he is able to spend half of his time at home probably exerts some influence in shaping his course.

In his Sabbath engagement with the Billikens he got the break when Holderman dropped a throw at first and this was followed by two runs that gave the home troupe the edge. Utrecht's loss of this game was largely due to this misplay as he held his own with Rowan all the way, and was hit only once more than the local moundsman.

Fort Wayne made a strong finish in this game but the handicap imposed in the opening innings was too heavy for the club to carry and it lost out by a margin of one run.

In the second half of the double bill Phil Stremmel went to the bad in the second inning and neither Noel or Wachtel, both sent in as rescuers, was able to stop the enemy and it hung up a victory of 14 to 0. In this game Tommy Atkins gave an excellent exhibition of expert left-hand hurling and gave only five hits and no runs in the seven innings the affair lasted.

The clubs are booked for a Monday game owing to a postponement early in the season, when a game was declared off to give Dayton a chance to play an exhibition game.

Favorite Remedy for Diarrhoea.

"About three years ago I had a serious attack of summer complaint. The doctor's medicine failed to benefit me, so I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy upon the recommendation of one of my neighbors. SPEEDY COMBINATION AT SECOND BASE IS NECESSARY TO THE SUCCESS OF A BASE BALL TEAM.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

Analyze the Boston Braves. Why are they winning?

You will reply: Tyler, Rudolph, James, sometimes Crutcher and Hess.

Yes, but pitchers alone cannot win; hitters alone cannot win. Figure the entire team. First base mediocre, third base wabbly, outfield weak and uncertain. Where is the team?

The answer is Evers, Maranville. Now study the winning ball clubs of all time in baseball, and you will commence to realize the value of speed, action and hustle around that second base. Begin with this broad assertion that there never has been a great baseball club that did not have a great second baseman and a great shortstop at the same time.

There never will be a great ball club unless it possesses a second base-shortstop combination outside the ordinary.

The importance of this combination is overlooked by many teams and by many crtics.

Eliminate putouts (thrown balls caught) by the first baseman and strikeouts, and the second baseman and shortstop handle more balls in play than the other nine players combined. They are in more plays than all the others combined save first baseman and catcher. A weak man in either place spells ruin for the club's pennant chances.

Go back into the history of the game. Ward and Richardson, with New York in the late '80s, Rowe and Dunlap, Williamson and Pfeffer, Gleason and Yank Robinson, with the Browns, Hughie Jennings and Henry Reitz, with Baltimore, Herman Long and Link Lowe with Boston, Hobe Ferris and Freddie Parent with Boston, Evers and Tinker with the Cubs, Bush and Schaefer with Detroit.

Take more recent times. No one will dispute the fact that Collins and Barry constitute Mack's greatest defensive strength. Those who saw the world's series last fall never will forget their dazzling fielding that saved their weakening pitchers. And now Stallings has as good a combination around second as any team needs. It is wonderfully fast, brainy and it is working together as if one mind directed the movements of both. If the Braves come through the lion's share of the credit will belong to Evers and Maranville.

I was also annoyed by frequent headaches. After taking a number of medicines without benefit I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets and found they were just the thing. ROBISON PARK EMPLOYES REMEMBER MR. WILLIAMS.

Manager Williams had a birthday yesterday and the Park employes presented him with a sectional oak filing cabinet in honor of the day. The fire early in July burned his office desk and chair and the gift yesterday was to replace the one destroyed. Manager Williams always remembers his Park workers on the occasion of his birthday. To the elder women he gave leather wrist bags, while the young women received handsome silk parasols. The male employes received four bladed silver pocket knives. Each of the three young men, George Frame, Paul Stratis and Ira Parker, who so successfully fought the pavilion fire, received $10 in gold and a solid gold signet ring.

GETTING IN LINE EARLY.

Unusual success in basket ball at St. Paul's last season has prompted the athletic division to get to work early this year and at a meeting to be held the second Monday in September a manager will be selected from Fred Wehrenberg, Arnold Scherer, Henry Koenig, Albert Narhrwold and Herbert Wolf. These men were nominated by "Whitey" Gerberding, Herman Hollman and Herman Adams. Gerberding will be lost to the club and it will be hard to replace him as he is one of the most aggressive youngsters in the game. He will enter college this fall.

SMITH GETS ONE DOLLAR FOR FLY

Realized That Sum at Mansfield—May Hook Up With Burman.

Art Smith packed his aeroplane, paid transportation from Fort Wayne to Mansfield for his crew of helpers and express on his outfit, set it up, made a flight, took it down, packed it and shipped it home and when he settled up he had one silver dollar to represent his profit.

The reason? Well, people who can see an aviator for nothing will not pay for it and there was no enclosure there into which enough people could be driven to make the venture successful. His flying field was badly located and everything connected with the show went wrong.

A late start because his motor manufacturers failed to deliver the engine for his new machine—and it is not here yet—has made the season a bad one for the Fort Wayne aviator in spite of the fact that he has mastered all of the things that other aviators are doing.

With a view of remedying this to a certain extent he will make an effort to hook up in a combination with Bob Burman, and under competent management he can probably finish up with a little profit on the year. He is booked this week at Fowler, Ind., and if the arrangement with Burman is brought about the start may be made in Fort Wayne.

Smith is expecting that motor in a few days, and if it gets here he will try it out and may put on an exhibition, although most of Fort Wayne has seen him in his new stunts.

He learned them all here and had big audiences while he was doing them, and only loyalty to an aviator who has mastered a great many difficulties and who has carried the name of Fort Wayne broadcast can be depended upon to bring results at the gate.

HAD INTERESTING TRIP.

Bert Wickliffe and Floyd Ramsey shipped their canoe from Pennville and arrived yesterday from a trip down the Maumee to Toledo and as far back as their shipping point. They slept in a tent while they were out and did their own cooking, and say they enjoyed the experience.

Two suits for damages for personal injury have been filed in the federal court here. John Engle alleges he was injured at Ridgeville when a defective draw bar struck him and he asks that the Grand Rapids and Indiana pay judgment to the amount of $15,000. Henry M. Hewitt also sues the Grand Rapids & Indiana, asking $10,000 for personal injuries sustained at Shelbyville, Mich.

The body of Spencer Wisbart, New York millionaire auto driver, killed in the Elgin road races, passed through Fort Wayne Sunday over the Pennsylvania. The funeral party was joined here by Samuel Murdock, of the Indiana Lighting company, who is a relative by marriage.

GERMAN BABES SEND SAVINGS TO HELP WAR VICTIMS.

LOTTIE LOUISE PFEFFERMANN AND HER SISTER, EMILE PFEFFERMANN.

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—"Please, sir, will you take this money and send it to Germany? It is for our wounded soldiers and for our orphans. It is $16.20 and we saved it all."

"We" were two pretty German children—Lottie Louise and Emeline Pfeffermann—5 and 11 years old, respectively, and they were beseeching the officials of the German consulate here to send the mite they had saved to the vaterland.

The officials, however, hesitated to accept the children's savings. But the action of the little tots produced such enthusiasm among the reservists present that a fund for a similar purpose was immediately started. Within a short time $300 was raised for the German Red Cross and German war orphans.

With the exception of the automobile test to determine which machine could travel the greatest distance and consume only one quart of oil, all the events on the program for the first annual field day shown under the auspices of the Electro-Technic club, given Saturday afternoon at Swinney park, was pulled off to the letter. The event mentioned could not take place because one of the contestants—Harry Evans—could not get his auto in shape in time. He is to make the trial later, however, when the result will be decided and the awards made.

It was a good show and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of spectators and it was decided that similar events would be given each year by the club. The Elks' band furnished music, which was enjoyed by all, and there were abundance of soft drinks, ice cream cones and other articles of refreshment for those who cared for such things.

But interest centered in the twenty-three athletic events, which were pulled off without any tedious delays. This part of the program was handled by the following gentlemen: E. Freema, clerk; C. D. Whneeler and O. E. Roth, starters; George Harkenrider, E. A. Barnes, George R. Gawehn, F. G. Duryee, E. A. Wagner, J. B. Mills and F. C. Morgenthaler, judges. An interesting feature of the contests was that in the only two events free to all, the winner—W. L. Monroe—was not an employe of the company, but of the Pennsylvania. Following is the result of the contests:

Have Eyes Tested Every Year

Here is sound wisdom.

Go to the dentist BEFORE your tooth aches. Have your teeth examined regularly—say every six months.

And have your eyes tested once a year—before you need glasses, or new glasses.

Our test is free. And if you need glasses they cost but little.

JOY RIDERS HIT BY FAST TRAIN

One Dead, Another Dying—Were Riding in Undertaker's Wagon.

Miss Winifred Coly, aged 20, was killed and Roy McBride, aged 22, had his skull fractured and a leg broken in two places when the automobile ambulance in which they were joy riding was struck on the Main street crossing at Elida, Ohio, by eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 8 at 9:20 o'clock Sunday night. McBride was taken to a hospital in Lima, where it is said he cannot survive the injury. The young people were lovers and were out for a ride, using the ambulance of the Williamson-Davis Undertaking company, of Lima, for whom McBride worked in the capacity of driver. They had driven to Elida, which is five miles from Lima, where they stopped a short time to see acquaintances, and were on their way homeward when the accident happened. The blow was terrific, completely demolishing the ambulance and knocking one of the cylinders off the locomotive. The accident caused a delay of two hours to the passenger train, it being necessary to send another engine to take it to Crestline. The train was in charge of Conductor Christian Casey and Engineer B. F. Campbell.

THE LARGEST IN STATE.

Friendship Lodge, No. 70, I. A. M., Greatest of All.

After the special meeting of Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, one week from tonight, that union will have the greatest membership of any machinists' union in Indiana, as it already has the largest membership of any union in Fort Wayne. Organizers have been at work in the city for some weeks and the result is over fifty applicants who will be initiated at the special meeting. Indianapolis union now has only eighteen more members than Friendship lodge and after next Monday night she will have at least twenty-five or thirty less names of her membership roll than Friendship lodge. [illegible] pride on the part of the men who have worked in the interest of No. 70.

PLUMBERS HAVE NICE TIME.

President William J. Wolley, of the state organization of the Plumbers' union, who was in the city yesterday, attended the annual picnic of the local union on Brudi's farm, east of the city, and delivered an address, in which he set forth the progress made in the interest of the plumbers during the past few years and the benefits of unionism generally. There were in the neighborhood of 100 present at the picnic and they reached the grounds by means of automobiles, buggies and the interurban line. A chicken dinner, with all the trimmings, a ball game in the afternoon and Mr. Wolley's address were some of the chief features of the day.

HYACINTH TO HAVE PICNIC.

Next Wednesday Hyacinth lodge, No. 38, Ladies Society to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will hold its annual picnic at Robison park. The ladies who are managing the picnic invite all members of the society and their families to the affair and suggest that they come with well filled baskets. Arrangements have been made to leave the transfer corner at 10:30 as far as possible, but those who cannot make it at that hour are urged to come later.

WRECK DELAYS PASSENGER TRAIN

Wabash westbound passenger train No. 9 was delayed nearly three hours this morning on the Detroit division and did not reach Fort Wayne until after 8 o'clock. W. G. Kaiser, superintendent of the Western Gas Construction company's plant, is using novel, but effective methods of carrying out his "safety first" ideas among the employes of the works. In each pay envelope issued last week he had inserted a slip of paper bearing the words: "Safety first; never take chances; never take short cuts by the path of danger; think before you act and be watchful for your own safety and that of your fellow employes." Mr. Kaiser practices these rules himself in directing the work in the shop and his close attention to the principles they stand for has resulted in nearly eliminating accidents from the shops.

The experiment is being tried in Kansas of irrigation by means of a great battery of windmills, which pump the water from the interior of the earth and deposit it in dirt reservoirs, where it is stored until wanted.

STUFFED SHARKS CUSTOMS PUZZLE

Are They Leather, Fish or Curios Inspector is Asking.

New York, Aug. 24.—When is a shark not a shark? If that question were answered in the precedents of the custom house none would be worried about it. But it isn't, and accordingly two sharks, or rather sharks' skins stuffed with hay, are waiting on the pier of the Bahama government line, at Montague street, Brooklyn, until the government decides whether they are fish, leather, curio or stuffed animals.

These two sharks were employed by the Thanhauser Film company as "actors" in the pictures taken below the sea. Afterward they were killed, stuffed and sent to the president of the company in New Rochelle. That gentleman didn't care particularly about having the sharks, and so presented them to George F. Kerr, manager of the new Rose Garden, where the pictures will first be shown.

All went well until the Malm arrived from the Bahamas and unload a large box onto the pier. In it rested the stuffed sharks. Mr. Kerr went over to see his new acquisitions and was going to take them away. He would have done so had not the government thought differently about it. At first the customs officials were going to charge for fish. The only trouble was that the sharks were no longer fish.

Then the big books were brought out. One customs officer argued that the hide of the sharks was much like leather, and that, therefore, the charges would have to be made under that head. All agreed that there was wisdom in that statement, but another suggested in this case the sharks were clearly stuffed animals. To add to the complications, one of the inspectors suggested that the sharks were curios and should be taxed as such.

It is not the first time Mr. Kerr has had dealings with the customs people. He brought in the first airship in 1903 and had trouble under the Dingley tariff law, which was in force at that time. He had to secure a [illegible]

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Wheat opened ¼c down on a little local selling but speculative sentiment was bullish on the European situation and a net gain of 1c to 1½c was quickly registered on a light trade.

The market broke on realizing, and closed steady, ¼c higher in September to ½c lower.

Corn started ¼c to ⅜c under Saturday's close on rains in the corn belt but in sympathy with oats steadied and made a net recovery of from ⅛c to ⅝c.

The close was weak, ⅜c to 1c down.

Oats enjoyed the only big market on the floor on reports of continued buying for export. The opening was ⅛c to ⅜c down on the rains but the reaction carried ¼c to 1⅜c higher the September option being most affected.

Provisions were steady but inactive. There were no opening bids for pork but ribs and lard were unchanged to 5c higher.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Since Saturday there have been showers over a large part of the country east of the Rockies. A storm has moved eastward from the Dakotas to the lower St. Lawrence valley, accompanied by general rains, heavy in many localities, from Minnesota and Iowa eastward to New England. Its rapid movement eastward caused high winds throughout the lake region. This morning rains have again set in over a large portion of the plains states from the Dakotas and Montana southward to Texas and are heavy in localities. Havre, Mont., Williston, N. D., and Abilene, Tex., report rainfalls of more than one inch.

Moderately warm weather prevails over the states east of the Rockies this morning, and maximum temperatures yesterday were from 90 to 95 degrees at most stations in the central states. A cool wave has overspread the Dakotas and the Lake Superior region.

Cloudy and unsettled weather will continue in this section tonight, with probably more rain and somewhat lower temperature. Tuesday will probably be fair and moderately cool.

STRANGER WITH SUNDAY BOTTLE

Promised Solution of Long Baffling Mystery is Blown Up.

For a moment it appeared in police court Monday morning that the long baffling problem of the mysterious stranger with the Sunday souse bottle was about to be unraveled, but the momentous promise blew up when Judge Kerr declined to see anything out of the ordinary in the case of John Schlerth and let him go. Scores of times at the bar of the city court it has been asserted by men arrested for being drunk on Sunday that they had been overcome by strong potations from a bottle freely tendered by a stranger. The wicked donor's identity never has been established. John Schlerth was arrested Sunday and he was highly pickled. In court he said that he had two bottles of red liquor in his pocket while wandering the streets Sunday, he met up with two strangers, felt his heart warm toward them, invited them to drink from his brace of "hippers" and in tendering his hospitality cut himself in for too much and went down and out. He claimed Chicago as his home, said he was but a brief sojourner here and wanted to go home. He did not seem to be the solution of the ancient mystery and was told to hike.

Both Fighters Fined.

After taking a lot of testimony delivered in Polish and relayed to the court by an interpreter, Judge Kerr fined Bill Roeback and Frank Kowinski $20 and costs each and added suspended jail sentences of ten days for disorderly conduct. According to the law and the evidence Kowinski's punishment was just, but to the innocent bystander who happened to know something about Bill Roeback it looked rough to fine a man who had put the marks of a good beating on Roeback, whose fame is extensive as the "fighting Pole." The two came together in front of Rodenbeck's saloon, Hanna and Wallace streets, Saturday night, and when it was over Roeback looked very mussy indeed about the face. He said Kowinski had used a knife on him. There was no conclusive evidence of this, but he appears to have been lacerated with a meat hack. Both principals were arrested by Officer Hill, who found a big crowd circled about the belligerents. Each man had an attorney and each gave bond for appeal of his case to the circuit court. Roeback has a well established reputation among the Poles and other foreign elements in the southeast part of the city as a "bad man." He has been in the city court many times.

Other City Court Cases.

These drunks, arrested Saturday and Sunday, were fined: William Coby, $1 and costs; Steve Sku and Andy Fudock, soused together, $5 and costs each; James Kelly, $1 and costs; Tom Hogan, $1 and costs; Frank Kelly, $1 and costs; Clarence Davis, $1 and costs; Charles Meyer, $1 and costs; Pat Shea, $1 and costs.

Jeff Myers, Oval Rodabaugh, John Linguist and William Foster, drunks, were turned loose and the case of Mike [illegible] Jones, drunk, but charged with disorderly conduct, was released.

Guy Ladig, the lad charged with stealing money from the clothing of Fred Huett, a fellow laborer, was continued until Tuesday.

John Kellerman, known also as Harry Bender, was continued a week on a loitering charge and put under $500 bond. Bender sent a telegram to his sister at Kingston, N. Y., that he intended to commit suicide. He hoped to frighten her into sending him money. The telegram risclosed his identity as a deserter from the United States army. The sister telegraphed to have her brother looked up and when Detective Sergeant Walter Immel picked him up he made the young man confess his trick. Sunday came a telegram saying Kellerman is a deserter.

GREAT GENERAL ENGAGEMENT IS RAGING WITH DESPERATION

GERMANS ROUT FRENCH WHILE JAPAN STRIKES ACROSS SEAS

BERLIN FLASHES NEWS OF VICTORY

Berlin, Aug. 24.—(Via wireless to the Associated Press from Nauen, Germany, via Sayville, L. I.)—Official announcement was made here today that the German army, commanded by Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurtemberg, has defeated a French army at Neufchateau.

It captured many guns, flags and prisoners, including several generals.

German armies under Prince Ruppreeht, of Bavaria, Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, and Grand Duke Albrecht are vigorously pursuing the French. The army under Ruppreeht captured 150 guns at Luneville, Blament and Cirey (in the French department of Meurthe and Moselle.)

The army commanded by the crown prince pursued the French beyond Longwy.

The Germans are west of the river Meuse and advancing against Maubeuge. They have defeated an English brigade of cavalry.

WASHINGTON GETS REPORT.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The German embassy today received the following message from the foreign office in Berlin.

"The army of the German crown prince has won a decisive victory northwest of Diedhosen over five French army corps. The retreat of the southern French wing on Verdun has been cut off. The French troops were repulsed across the river Meuse in complete rout. The crown prince's army, giving chase, took many prisoners and it is declared the French troops are no longer able to face the terrific fire of the German infantry."

RUSH ON DEADLY WIRES AT NIGHT

Paris, Aug. 24. The Petit Journal publishes the following details of the fighting around Liege, obtained by it from a Belgium officer:

German troops rushed on the barbed wire defenses before the forts of Liege in the darkness of night. A very strong current of electricity was being maintained in these wires, and as a result the first ranks of the Germans were electrocuted.

Unchecked the assailants followed in masses, but they were blinded by the glare of powerful searchlights. They hesitated and started to retire. At that moment a heavy fire of rifles and artillery was concentrated on the mass of German troops and they were cut to pieces. The mass of bodies formed a mound, in some places many feet high.

To drown out the groans of the wounded the German bugles sounded martial airs and the troops still alive united in cheering. Near one fort two columns of Germans, blinded by the glare of Belgian searchlights attacked each other. This incident was seen from the fort. When one side seemed to have the better of the struggle, the Belgian officer goes on to say, our artillery fired into both sides alike, "thus making the struggle more even."

NEWEST ENTRY IN THE WAR GAME.

EMPEROR YOSHIHITO, ruler of Japan, who has thrown his gauntlet into the war arena with European crowned heads by his declaration of war on Germany, is the youngest of the monarchs involved in the continental conflict, being but 35 years old. He has been emperor for two years.

His imperial majesty is also called Harunomiya.

Freely translated, this name means, "Ah, at last!" and was said to have been bestowed upon the Emperor at his birth by Mutsuhito, the royal father, as an expression of elation over the arrival of a son and heir, following the birth of several daughter

"I have no personal feeling in this matter against Carranza. This country should not again be under military government. The armies by our constitution are secondary to the constituted government and it is time that the country should be governed by the people, for the people and not, as heretofore, governed by a military clique whose only object is personal welfare and not the welfare of the masses.

FIRST CHARTERED SHIP BRINGS 400

New York, Aug. 24.—The first of the specially chartered ships to bring American refugees out of Europe—the Italian liner, Principe Di Udine—steamed into New York harbor today with 300 passengers. They had paid in the aggregate of $200,000 for their passage, for this was the sum given the Lloyd Sabaudo company at Genoa, on condition that the vessel be turned over to the refugees to go direct to New York. Each passenger paid $250 gold as a minimum for first cabin accommodations leaving a deficit of about $40,000 which will be met by the committee which arranged the transportation. In a long statement issued at New York today detailing the acute conditions that the Americans confront abroad, the committee said: "The money was well spent."

FIND GIRL'S BODY BURIED IN SAND

Helena Wood Smith, Young Artist, Was Foully Strangled.

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—Buried in the sand a mile from her former home at Carmel by the sea, the body of Helena Wood Smith, a young artist, who disappeared two weeks ago, was found yesterday by a searching party. Death had been caused by strangulation.

George Kodoni, a Japanese artist-photographer, who had been arrested at Salinas, told Sheriff Nesbitt that Miss Smith fell over a cliff bordering Carmel beach after they had quarreled. When he saw the body fall on the rocks and then into the sea, Kodoni said he became alarmed at the possible consequence and fled, remaining in hiding until arrested. Before admitting these facts however, the Japanese maintained that he had not seen nor heard of the missing girl since he left her at her bungalow on August 12.

The body was found by a party of the young woman's friends headed by Frederick A. Bechtoldt, a novelist. A piece of heavy cord was tightly drawn around the neck and a sweater had been wrapped around the head and tied in place with a towel.

CONFESSES TO MURDER.

Salinas, Aug. 24. George Kodani, a Japanese photographer under arrest here confessed to Sheriff Nesbit today that he had murdered Helena Wood Smith, a New York artist, who had been living in the colony of writers and painters at Carmel, by the sea. He told conflicting stories of the murder, one version being that he killed Miss Smith in defense.

LIGHTNING HITS BARN.

One Horse Burns in Fire That Followed Freakish Bolt.

A large barn on the property of Fred H. Baade, just inside the city limits on South Broadway, was struck by a bolt of lightning at 7 o'clock Sunday evening and destroyed. One horse was killed and thirty ducks and chickens were also burned in the fire that consumed the structure. Mr. Baade estimates his loss in excess of $1,000 and only $250 insurance was held on the building.

Neighbors succeeded in saving two horses from the burning buil[illegible], but all efforts to save four tons of [illegible] are about twenty bushels of corn were fruitless. The bolt that struck the barn was of the freakish variety. When it was about 100 feet from earth, it split and one portion hit a telephone pole along the road nearly 300 feet away.

GERMAN PRESS NOW VOWING VENGEANCE

London, Aug. 24.—4:22 p. m.—The London newspapers today quote the German newspaper, Taglische Rundschau as declarin that Belgium bitterly will rue the day she dared to oppose her mightly neighbor. Great Britain, the German newspaper also says, will pay dearly for her interference in this war by seeing the permanent establishment of a German naval base on the coast of Belgium.

The Pan-Germanic organs declare that the portions of Belgium now overrun by the German army will be incorporated in the German empire.

Report is Persistent.

Refugees coming from Germany stated, according to the Evening Standard, that reports persist there that Crown Prince Frederick William is dead.

This is the latest of a series of similar reports, some representing that the heir to the throne had been stabbed by a socialist, others that he had been wounded in battle.

London Without News.

No news of Japanese or German military operations in the far east reached London since Japan's declaration of war upon Germany. According to the Japanese embassy here those who are looking for the occupation of Kiao Chow, almost simultaneously with the Japanese declaration of war, will be disappointed. The view is expressed at the embassy here that in order to avoid needless loss of life the operations against Kiao Chow will be prolonged than otherwise would be the case.

Austrian Fleet Moves.

A dispatch to the Central News from Rome says fishermen in the Adriatic report that the entire Austrian fleet of about forty units, is proceeding southward from Pola, the Austrian naval base. Their objective is thought to be Cattaro, in Dalmatia. According to recent reports a French fleet is cruising in the Adriatic.

WHERE GERMAN FORCES ARE.

Kaiser Has Mighty Fighting Machine on Belgian Soil.

Rotterdam, Aug. 24.—Via London 12 noon.—According to the best information obtainable here, the disposition of the German forces in Belgium is broadly as follows: The right flank, occupying the entire Terrain immediately south of Antwerp is moving southwest in the direction of Lille. A second force is moving on Maubeuge, fifty miles southeast of Lille, in the department of Nord, and a third is occupied with the reduction of the Namur forts, which consist of nine defenses of steel and concrete surrounding the city. It is estimated that these three columns together comprise nearly a quarter of a million. The main northern Germany army is advancing slowly with its front extending from Givet, France, to Dieden in Lorraine. The French defenses from La Fere, to Reims are thought to be the objective of this army, which is believed to number 300,000 men.

The main body to the south is directing its efforts upon the Verdun-Nancy line of defenses, and now occupies Strassburg.

Travelers returning here from Germany say that troop movements in the western part of the empire have subsided considerably and that the mobilization evidently has been achieved. The railroads are now chiefly occupied with the transportation of munitions of war. Most of these are passing through Dusseldorf, Coblentz, Mainz and Rastat,

SEES TRIUMPH FOR GERMANS

Count von Bernstorff Says Kaiser is Bound to Win in End.

Returning German Ambassador Gives Out Notable Interview.

New York, Aug. 24.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, announced upon his arrival here today from Rotterdam that his government had been informed that Russian civil and military authorities had withdrawn from Poland and that the Poles had set up an independent government with Warsaw as its capital.

The German ambassador gave out one of the most authoritative interviews yet expressed here on Germany's attitude toward the war. Germany was bound to win in the end he said. She was fighting because her cause was just. He predicted that Americans would come to regard the conflict in this light. Italy, he believed, would not permit herself to take side against Germany.

"My wife is with the Red Cross at Munich," said the ambassador, "and my son is with the emperor's guards. All my secretaries have gone to the front and I regret that I was not able to see active service myself.

All Germans United.

"From the emperor to the lowest unskilled workman in the fatherland Germany is united to defend herself against the frivolous and unwarranted attack of jealous powers. The German people will fight to a finish and will be victorious in the end.

"At the outbreak of the war," he continued, "the English cut the cable to this neutral country for the sole purpose of preventing the truth from com-

BULLETIN.

London, Aug. 24.—6:20 p. m.—A dispatch received here from Paris says that, according to the official announcement in the French capital, the Germans are making great effort against Namur, which is resisting vigorously.

All the Liege forts are still holding out. The entire Belgian army has been concentrated and entrenched at Antwerp.

REDFIELD WARNS WIRELESS PLANT

Washington, Aug. 24.—After a conference with Secretary Daniels today Secretary Redfield notified the German owned wireless station at Tuckerton, N. J. that it is operating in violation of the law.

The action was taken because the Tuckerton station never has been licensed as is required in the radio laws. It began operating last May in the experimental stage, and lately has been the only direct means of communication between the United States and Germany. Other stations operating, are said to require a relay during the summer. The Tuckerton tower is said to be the only one having a system capable of overcoming static conditions in hot weather. The wireless station at Sayville, L. I., is licensed and now under censorship. Whether the government would license the Tuckerton station now that war has broken out raises a difficult question.

FORCES ENGAGED ALL ALONG LINE

Paris, Aug. 24.—2:57 p. m.—"The general engagement continues today with desperation," is the wording of an official communication given out this afternoon. "Already both sides have suffered serious losses."

The French minister of foreign affairs announces that the contact has been established between the opposing forces all along the line in Belgium, and up to the present without advantage to either side.

Confirmation was given of the report that the German airship Zeppelin No. 8 had been destroyed, and that there had been great Russian successes.

It is admitted this afternoon that Luneville, Ameance and Dieuloard, in the department of Meurethe and Moselle, have been occupied by the Germans. The French front otherwise has not been modified.

Our armies had resolutely taken the offensive between Moselle and Mons, in Belgium. A general battle is now being fought in Upper Alsace upon the Vosges mountains and along the river Meurthe. The main body of troops is under the command of General Pau. These forces hold the front heretofore indicated, roughly speaking, between Badonviller and Luneville. An army from the north of Wavre is approaching Neufchateau and is attacking the German forces which have defiled through Clamburg and are now upon the right bank of the Semois.

Not Yet Eective.

Zeppelin airships of which the Germans expected great things appear as yet to have been inoffensive, according to opinion in the French capital. Of the fifteen Zeppelin units one is believed to have been disabled by the fire of the Liege forts on August 6 and another was demolished in a shed at Metz by the French aviator Finck. Two others have been seen by Belgian aviators apparently wrecked by wind squalls in the forest between Metz and Aix-la-Chapelle. Another has been brought down at Badenviller near Luneville.

Of the remainder, two were supposed to be on the Russian frontier and the others at Cologne, Hamburg and Kiel, and on the French frontier.

Bring Belgian Locomotives.

Three hundred locomotives from the railroads of Belgium were brought to Paris today to prevent their being used by the Germans.

A dispatch to the Havas agency from Ostend say that although the presence of Uhlans is reported in many places the situation appeared much better. Communication is being maintained as far as Alosa, fifteen miles northwest of Brussels. A traveler who tried to return to Brussels got to Houbeek, nine miles north of the capital, where he reports Belgian cavalry had just annihilated a patrol of Uhlans who were covering the passage of a body of German troops to Grimbehen, a village six miles northeast of Brussels. The traveler said that he saw the bodies of five Uhlans at the railway station.

BULLETIN.

Peking, Aug. 24.—The blockade of Tsing Tau, the fortified seaport of Kiao Chow has begun.

British, French and Russian vessels of war are taking part in the movement.

MEETING ENTIRE GERMAN STRENGTH

London, Aug. 24.—6:30 p. m.—A dispatch from Paris conveys the following official announcement:

"A great battle on a vast line, extending from Mons, in Belgium, to the frontier of Luxemburg, is raging

"French troops everywhere are taking the offensive.

"Their action is being carried on with regularity in conjunction with the British army.

"The allied forces have ranged against them nearly the entire German army, active and reserve."

BULLETIN.

Udine, Italy, Aug. 24.—Via Paris, 12:15 p. m.—Reports received here from Vienna are to the effect that the Austrians are about to abandon their operations against the Servians on the Drina river in order to concentrate their forces against the Russian advance.

The difficulties of the campaign against Servia have been redoubled by the troubles in Bosnia.

THREE COMPANIES RESPOND.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The United States Steel corporation, the Standard Oil company and the United Fruit company have notified the government of their intentions to put their fleets under the American flag under the new law extending home registry to foreign built craft.

The Day's War Summary

A dispatch to the Associated Press from Berlin by wireless telegraph has brought news of German victories over the French.

Official announcement is made in the German capital that a German army has defeated a French army at Neufchateau, capturing guns and prisoners, including several generals. The Germans are pursuing the French vigorously, in one case beyond Longwy. Another German army captured 150 French guns in the French department of Meurthe and Moselle.

The Germans are reported west of the river Meuse advancing against Maubeuge. They defeated the English brigade of cavalry.

Reports were in circulation in Paris today that the Germans have occupied the unfortified town of Nancy, France.

The bombardment of Tsing Tau, China, by the Japanese fleet has begun, according to the Yamato which published an extra edition in Tokio today. The message giving the news of the bombardment was passed by the department censor at Tokio.

The Russians, according to Paris reports, now occupy territory fifty miles wide on the German frontier.

A Vienna report filtering through Udine, Italy, says that the Austrians are about to abandon their operations against the Servians on the Drina river in order to concentrate their forces against the Russian advance.

The agreement of Austria to dismantle her cruiser, the Kaiserin Elizabeth, now at Tsing-Tau, has removed the danger of war between Japan and Austria, according to diplomatic confirmation in Washington today.

The Standard Oil company, the United States steel corporation, and the United Fruit company have notified the government that their fleets will be put under the American flag.

Japanese war moves in the far east are proceeding under sphynx like silence of their army and navy. Communication between Japan and China has been severed for 24 hours and it is believed that the cable between Shanghai and Nagasaki has been cut.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, arriving in New York today denounced as false the reports that the German crown prince, Frederick William, had been shot either in the streets of Berlin or in the battle at Liege. Only 5,000 or 6,000 German soldiers were engaged in the assault upon Liege said Count Bernstorff.

Myrtle Jetmore Says Spouse Bought Her $4 Worth of Togs in 3 Years.

Charging among other things that her husband during a period of more than three years of married life bought her but $4 worth of clothes, Myrtle Jetmore has filed suit in the superior court for a divorce from Jasper Jetmore. She also says that he has for more than two years failed to suitably provide for herself and child, neglecting to get them things to eat and did not maintain the table. She also says he ordered her to leave and drove her from home. They were married July 1, 1911, and separated the 20th inst. They have one child aged 2 years, of which the plaintiff asks the court to give her the custody. She also prays for $1,000 alimony. An order to restrain the defendant from molesting her has been issued.

Calls Him Habitual Drunkard.

In a divorce complaint filed in the superior court Della Imbody prays for a divorce from George Imbody, from whom she says she separated six years ago. During the past two years she says he has wholly failed to make any provision for her support and she charges that for two years he has been a habitual drunkard.

Wants Limited Separation.

Minetta Agster has brought suit in the superior court for a limited divorce from Chester Agster and she asks $40 a month for the support of herself and two children, aged 2 and 3 years, respectively, of both of which she petitions for the custody. They were married in November, 1910, and separated in 1912. For the past two years, she complains, the defendant wholly failed and refused to provide support for herself and the children.

Notes of the Courts.

The Citizens' Trust company has filed suit in the superior court against John Auer, demanding judgment for $150 on a note.

The German-American Trust company, as receivers for the Bliss Sanitary Garbage Can company, a defunct concern that was established at Grabill and never did any business but accumulate liabilities, has filed suits in the superior court against Joseph Nussbaum and Levi Roth to collect $450 from each on notes.

In the superior court Judge W. C. Ryan has granted a divorce to Grace M. Rogers from Frank H. Rogers.

To recover $200 which he says the plaintiffs owe him as money given in part payment for real estate of which he never has been given possession, William L. Stevenson has sued Rebecca Kintz and John Kintz in the superior court for $200. He says the defendants, after getting his money, sold the property to another person and gave possession.

Raymond Mowery has been appointed drainage commissioner to succeed William Pyle, who recently died. The appointment was made by the board of county commissioners.

Timothy Franklin Mosely has filed suit in the superior court against S. Bash & Co. to collect $500 on account.

William M. Clutter, deputy clerk for the superior court, has returned from a week's vacation at Clear lake.

MAY DENY TWO LICENSES.

The county commissioners may deny retail liquor licenses to F. Lukaszawski and William C. Gebhart when the petitions come up for hearing next month. Lukaszawski wants to start a saloon in a building to be erected, if he gets a license, at the corner of Hayden and Chute streets, and Gebhart wants to operate a saloon on the Bluffton road near the county farm. Complaints against granting a license to either petitioner have been received by the commissioners.

REPORT ROADS IN GOOD SHAPE.

In reports made Saturday to Road Superintendent William Tonkel the deputy superintendents set forth that the highways of Allen county are in fine condition. Much gravel is being placed, the St. Joe road being especially well taken care of in this respect by Deputy Superintendent Andrew Blume.

TO ATTEND GOOD ROADS MEET.

County Treasurer J. Herman Bueter, who is chairman of the Commercial club's committee that has in charge the celebration of good roads' day, when the four mile stretch of concrete highway between Fort Wayne and New Haven is completed, has been informed by C. D. Franks, assistant engineer of the Universal Cement company, of Chicago, that his concern will have a representative here on that occasion.

CONFESSES TO BURGLARY.

Floyd Greek, aged 23, of Sheldon, is held for burglarizing the home of John Robinson, in Lafayette township, one night last week, and has made a confession to Deputy Sheriff Henry Branning. He was arrested Sunday by Deputies Branning and Courdevey. The burglary was committed while the Robinson family was attending a funeral and $4 cash, two revolvers and a gold watch were taken. One revolver was thrown away, one was brought to Fort Wayne and pawned and the watch was secreted in a hollow tree. Young Greek resides in Sheldon. Following his confession an affidavit charging burglary was filed against Greek and he was admitted to bond in the sum of $500, which was furnished. He will be arraigned directly in the circuit court. It is said that while he has caused his family much anxiety, this is the first serious trouble he has been in. He completely collapsed when locked in jail to await the filing of a bond for him.

BROOKS GETS ROAD CONTRACT.

The Brooks Construction company, of Fort Wayne, will be given the contract for constructing the highway designated as New Haven road No. 3, a concrete highway that is to be built in Adams township. The Brooks bid, submitted Monday morning, was for $13,486.26. The engineer's estimate was $13,710.50. The road has a length of 4,841 feet and the average price per lineal foot on the basis of the Brooks bid is $2.79.

ing here. There was no excuse for that act except the desire to deceive the people of the United States as to the true conditions of the war. But I believe Americans will prove themselves fair enough to weigh carefully all the news that comes from English and French sources.

"The calling of the Japanese into a European quarrel shows one thing above all else. It is that England does not feel very safe. The Japanese will doubtless take Kia Chow—sheer weight of numbers assures that. But by the end of the war Japan will have the supremacy of the Pacific—a thing she has striven for during many years. Japan took advantage of the situation to strike this blow for the sole purpose of acquiring this supremacy.

Will Have Different View.

"When the true story of the assault on Liege is told, Americans will have a far different opinion than that gained from the colored accounts from Belgium, French and English sources. As a matter of fact, the troops under von Emmich, which went to the assault of this strongly fortified position numbered only between 5,000 and 6,000 infantry and cavalry. The taking of Liege was one of the greatest military feats in modern times. What was expected to take weeks was accomplished in days by two brigades. Von Emmich was slightly wounded in the leg during the attack, but did not relinquish command."

The ambassador denied reports that the German crown prince had been wounded by an assassin in Berlin. Moreover, he added, the crown prince had never been wounded before Liege for the simple reason that he was not at Liege but in command of troops at the fortress at Metz.

Victory for Crown Prince.

"The last great German victory I heard of before leaving Berlin," said the ambassador, "was one at Metz by the army under the crown prince."

Of the reported Russian invasion of East Prussia, Count Bernstroff said: "The reports of the penetration by a Russian force are probably true. That part of the German frontier is not heavily fortified. But the Russians will never cross the Vistula."

"Fifteen corps of the Austrian army, each comprising 40,000 men, are now on the Russian frontier of Austria, Count von Bernstorff said. In German, besides the last line of reservists, 1,300,000 men, upon whom the government had no claim for military service, had volunteered and became enrolled in an army of home defense.

"Germany has been attacked, therefore has no responsibility for the war," Count von Bernstorff said. "To the last man in the empire, we will defend our country. This war has no other object but the destruction of the German and the Austrian empires, and we believe we will be able to prove to all the world that this cannot be accomplished.

As One Man For the War.

"The German people are as one man for the war. It is neither the emperor's war nor a war of the officers, as many have charged. It is a war of the German people. I am old enough to remember 1870 and the enthusiasm that stirred our country then. In this war the enthusiasm is ten times as great as it was then.

"The women and children and the old men have uncomplainingly gone into the fields to gather the crops glad to give what they can to their country. And we have wonderful crops this year.

"Every man, woman and child old enough to know what war means, has volunteered to do some service. As an illustration, there is a multi-millionaire in Munich who is today delivering mail from door to door. He volunteered to do a postman's duty because the postmen had gone to war."

Russians uit Poland.

Count von Bernstorff left Berlin on August 11. At that time, he said the German government had reports that not a Russian soldier had been left in Poland. This report, Count von Bernstorff added, was general throughout Berlin.

"I do not know what sort of government the Poles set up nor do I vouch for the accuracy of the report We were informed however, that the Russian army proceeding against Germany was to strike through Russia north of Poland and invade east Prussia. This appears to have been borne out by subsequent reports of the Russian invasion."

Cable dispatches from St. Petersburg two weeks ago stated that the czar had promised autonomy to Poland for its support of the Russian forts.

GIVES MANAGER A PRESENT.

Remembering the date of their managers birthday, the employes of Robison park presented C. H. Williams with a handsome sectional oak filing desk Saturday afternoon as an evidence of the high esteem in which they hold him. Upon the desk was a card which Mr. Williams says he values more than the gift as it bore the following inscription: "To Manager Williams, our belived friend. From his boys and girls."

"Robison park would be quite an empty place without your co-operation and good will; but with your faithful presence it is a people's garden," said the manager to his employes.

Mr. Williams' executive office was destroyed by fire a month ago with all its furnishings and the employes thought that a desk would be a very suitable gift. In accordance with his custom he gave each one of his employes a gift as a token in honor of his birthday.

TRANSFER CORNER MAN IS REMOVED

Traction Company Abolishes Position Established Years Ago.

The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company has decided to abolish the employment of an inspector at the transfer corner, Main and Calhoun streets, and Fred Schaaf, there for six years, has been assigned to duty on the city cars. This position had been in existence ever since the traction company operated in Fort Wayne, and for years it was filled by Fred Fashling, now claim agent for the company.

Owing to the fact that the city has placed traffic policemen at the corners, regulating traffic and the movement of cars and other vehicles, it is no longer necessary to have a man there as the car crew is able to throw their own switches, because of stopping on the near side of the streets.

Originally the inspector's duty was to sell tickets and to issue transfers, but this system was abloished many years ago.

LOCAL PEOPLE IN EUROPE TO SAIL

Most of Fort Wayne Folks Abroad Have Arranged to Return.

Messages from Europe during the last few days indicate that most of the Fort Wayne people abroad, detained because of the war, have finally made arrangements to leave those countries involved in the present conflict and have secured bookings on boats to sail soon for home.

Its said that Mrs. Stephen B. Fleming and daughters Geraldine and Josephine will arrive in Canada Friday on the steamship Allen. They will immediately come to Fort Wayne for a visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Helen Fleming.

It is also known that the Homer G. Davisson party will sail on Aug. 29, and Fred Lambert received a cablegram from his wife and daughter Miss Violet that they sailed from London Aug. 22.

Albert Schele received a postcard Monday morning from Dr. J. A. Williams, of the United Dental company's office in this city. Dr. Williams is in London, and wrote that there was no chance for him at this time to return to America.

HIBBARD HAS THE HABIT.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 24.—Wilber Hibbard defeated Dudley Elmer 3 up at the Country club Sunday afternoon, winning the golf championship of the club for the third successive year. The match was played in a high wind.

FRACTURES ARM IN FALL.

While descending the steps leading from the Pennsylvania train sheds to the station building Saturday night Mrs. John F. Kless, 429 Brackenridge street, fell and fractured the bones of her right arm an inch above the wrist. Mrs. Kless was returning home from Rome City with her husband, where they spent ten days, when the accident happened.

Fifty-five Servian reservists from Butte, Mont., occupied a car on Nickel Plate train No. 6 last night, and a similar party will be on No. 6 tonight. They are en route to New York, where they will embark for Servia to take up arms in defense of their country.

RAILWAY HAS NO MONEY IN SIGHT

Decatur Line's South Calhoun Street Work Near Stopping Point.

Because the Fort Wayne & Springfield Interurban company's receiver has not yet put in sight any money to pay for track improvement and its share of street paving on Calhoun street, from Rudisill boulevard to McKinnie avenue, work may be brought to a standstill at the end of the present week. The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company has the contract for constructing the track according to standard specifications and it took the job in a lump, which included the purchase of rails and ties and other material. General Manager S. W. Greenland stated Monday that unless there was shown some guarantee that the money would be forthcoming to pay the $3,700 at which the contract was taken, no further work would be done. The Grace Construction company has the contract for paving that part of Calhoun street, including the paving of that portion that must be done by the Fort Wayne & Springfield line. It has set the curbing and completed the trench for the track. It wants to know that its money is going to come along. General Manager Greenland says that the traction company's work on Calhoun street, from Pontiac to Woodland, would be completed by Friday and that it was the intention to put the construction gang at work on the Springfield line's work. If there is not some guarantee of payment shown the gang will be discharged and the interurban line's work will not be undertaken. It is a complex situation all round, and the more so because the city's work of paving Calhoun street, from Rudisill to McKinnie will be interfered with.

COUNCIL PICNIC A SUCCESS.

Fathers of City Entertain Many at the Cripple Club.

The members of the city council were hosts Sunday at an all day picnic given at the Cripple club. They had near a hundred persons as guests. Mayor Hosey and practically all of the city officials, deputies, clerks and the like were there, and they were reinforced by a number of county officials and several candidates on the democratic county ticket. The proceedings were inaugurated before the sun was well up by a flying squadron that took out a tent, tables, chairs, ice and much else. At 9 o'clock the hosts and the advance guard of the guests arrived and took possession. Then the festivities were pulled open and continued until 8 o'clock in the evening. There were two spreads during the day—one at 1 o'clock and another at 4. Many persons were seen to avail themselves of both occasions. Several made it a single function and kept right at it from 1 to 4. There were some athletic events scheduled, but few of them were pulled off. The race carded between Capt. Eugene B. Smith, councilman from the Fourth ward, who still uses a crutch in consequence of an accident last spring, and Building Inspector Phil Wyss, who ran a rusty nail through his foot the other day, had to be called off because the building inspector refused to start unless his competitor discarded the crutch. Henry Becker, clerk of the board of works, retained the championship at pitching horseshoes, for which he has held the blue ribbon since 1871. A "kangaroo court" was established into which everybody with money was haled and fined. The proceeds are to go to charity, and the members of the council will choose the objects of this beneficence. It was altogether a very joyous occasion, the refreshments were ample and choice and altogether "a lovely time was had."

The story that Col. D. N. Foster, president of the board of park commissioners, and Frank E. Singrey, president of the board of works, went ten rounds with five-ounce gloves for points is erroneous. After being stripped and gloved for the contest the principals and their seconds were unable to agree on a referee and the match was called off. Both men were down to weight.

The Cripple club, where the picnic was held, is in a beautifully wooded tract on the left bank of the St. Joe river about a mile above Robison park.

RESTAURANT STANDARD RISES.

Inspection Now in Progress Shows Many in Gold Medal Class.

That the standard of Fort Wayne restaurants is constantly rising and that Fort Wayne has the cleanest and most sanitary eating houses in the state have received additional proof from the inspection now in progress. Chief Eugene A. Schott and Deputy Charles Josse, of the inspection division of the health department, will soon complete the examination of restaurants and if those remaining to be inspected show as well as those already disposed of Fort Wayne will stand in a class of her own in this regard. It already is indicated that more than half of the restaurants can be graded "excellent" and will thereby be entitled to rank as "gold medal" eating houses. To obtain this grade restaurants must score at least 95 per cent. out of a possible hundred points. The present inspection shows that many restaurants that graded below 80 at the last inspection have been so improved as to sanitation and clealiness as to give them first rank. Deputy State Pure Food Inspector Hutchins, who was in Fort Wayne last week, spent some time with Inspector Schott and Deputy Josse in visiting restaurants and expressed surprise at the splendid conditions exhibited. He was astonished at the absence of flies from many of the eating houses.

Deputy State Inspector Hutchins also praised the manner in which the city market was conducted as respected sanitary regulations.

WILL GRADE PACKARD AVENUE.

Board of Works and Street Superintendent Plan Improvements.

After an inspection of Packard avenue by the board of works and street superintendent Monday morning the board ordered the street department to grade that thoroughfare, provide it with gutter drainage where necessary, to remove some trees and otherwise put the street into good condition. The street will be improved as much as possible for the winter and it is hoped that even the absence of pavement of any kind will not operate to prevent that thoroughfare from being passable until such time as the property owners feel that they can afford to have it paved. Street Superintendent Strodel has put many miles of dirt streets in good condition since he took his position in the early part of the year.

Poet's Birthplace to Be Preserved

MRS. E. L. MURFEY.

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—The birthplace of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow will not be converted into a factory. The hand of the vandal has been warded off by a check of $12,000 raised by Mrs. Edward Murfey, of Chicago and other officers of the International Longfellow society.

Several months ago Longfellow's birthplace, the fine old colonial mansion in Portland was threatened with destruction: the owner of the property wanted to build a factory on the historic site. A plea for funds was made and the response was so generous that Mrs. Murfey, the society treasurer, now has the required amount.

The house that has long been a land mark of Portland will now be a landmark of the nation.

CITY BREVITIES

Sparks from a chimney set fire to the roof of the brick dwelling of Mrs. John Bostick, 426 East Wayne street, at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and it was necessary to call the chemical motor from No. 3 engine house to extinguish the flames. No damage is reported.

Assistant Postmaster William J. Hess and family have returned from Clear lake, where they enjoyed a week's vacation.

Dr. Fred Schulz, 1421 Broadway, has returned from Wawasee, where he has made arrangements to rebuild his cottage, which was destroyed by fire a few days ago.

Mrs. C. W. Honeck, 708 Cottage avenue, injured in a fall six weeks ago, is still confined to her home.

News of Our Neighbors

LAW VIOLATOR IS SHOT BY DEPUTY

Clyde Jefferies, of Argos, is Killed by Peter Holloway, Deputy Game Warden.

Plymouth, Ind., Aug. 24.—Clyde Jefferies, of Argos, resisting arrest at Plymouth Saturday after having been caught violating the state game and fish laws by using a net in the Tippecanoe river, was shot and instantly killed by Game Deputy Peter Holloway. Jefferies was shot after he had pulled a revolver and fired at Holloway and was aiming to fire the second time.

According to Captain R. D. Fleming, of the state deputies, Holloway, with Deputy James Stonebrunner, found the man using a net in the river. The two attempted to place him under arrest, but Jefferies put up a strong resistance and running, turned to fire at Holloway. He raised his gun to fire once more, when Holloway shouted, "don't fire the second time."

Jefferies' gun failed to discharge as he attempted to shoot again and then Holloway drew his gun and fired, the contents entering Jefferies' abdomen. Holloway, it is said, was acting purely in self defense and was not taken into custody. He was formerly a resident of Fort Wayne.

BOY HELD AS AUTO THIEF.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 24.—Raymond Cook, aged 17, of Ligonier, but formerly of this city, is in jail here on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of stealing an automobile belonging to A. M. Hendrick, of Chicago, from a garage at Chapman lake. Cook was arrested Saturday evening at Ligonier after he had taken the automobile to that city. He was brought here by Sheriff Kintzel. Young Cook has been in repeated trouble and not long ago was sent to the boys' school at Plainfield for stealing a motorcycle.

AUBURN MAN IN HOLLAND.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 24.—Information that Dr. John Leas, a son of Mrs. Anise Leas, was safe at Rotterdam, Holland, on August 17, has been received by the Auburn milliner, who returned from Chicago Thursday night. On August 17, the Uranium Steamship company in reply to a letter of inquiry from Mrs. Leas, concerning the whereabouts of her son, wrote to her that their company on that day received a cable letter from Rotterdam informing them that Doctor Leas was safe and well at that place.

BEAT UP AN INTERLOPER.

Andrews, Ind., Aug. 24.—Five young men of near Andrews, probably will find themselves arraigned in Squire Strevy's court in the Dallas township capital. Affidavits have been filed and warrants issued for the five. The affidavits were filed by Corning Collins, of Huntington, who was beaten last Sunday evening at the traction station near Andrews. He had been visiting in Andrews, and the Andrews young men took exceptions to the visit. They issued no warning but "laid" for Collins. Now it is Collins' turn.

TO TRY SLAYER OF BOY TRAMP.

Albion, Ind., Aug. 24.—Charles L. Cushing, charged with the murder of Howard McLaughlin, will be placed on trial Wednesday, October 7. This date has been set by Judge Wrigley after consulting the district prosecutor. Attorney F. L. Bodenhafer, who represents the defendant was here. No application has been made as yet for the release of Cushing on bail and it is very probable that he will remain here until the trial.

UTILITY COULD BE MADE TO PAY.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 24.—The report of Engineer Harley on the value of the municipal water plant shows that the plant would be a good paying proposition provided it was handled properly. In his estimate the engineer appraises the plant at $105,044.51, while the original cost was $49,051.72. The earnings have been $200,000 while the expenditures for the first six years could not be ascertained for the records are lost.

BOYS AND GIRLS

Romp Day, the last glad day of 1914, will be held at Robison park on Wednesday Sept. 2nd. One of the glad things to tell you about is the 5c street car fare for round trip. Every boy and girl in Fort Wayne can earn five cents somehow between now and Sept. 2nd. The three automobiles that have been on exhibition all summer in the pavilion will be awarded on Romp Day. One automobile will be given to a girl while two automobiles will be given to boys. The grand parade will take place at 4 p. m. The only object of a parade is the awarding of the automobiles. Do not dress up in any way. Just wear your play-day clothes. The doll will be awarded on Romp Day. The Popularity Contest will be held on Romp Day. One hundred and twenty base balls will be thrown from the theater building; you remember what sport it was on Boys' Day. There will be more kites, the ever popular Copper Trail, the greased pole, a peanut scramble and bushels of candy on Romp Day. After the parade the special prizes will be awarded at the band stand. Romp Day is just one long day of fun. It is the last glad children's day at Robison park before the school bell rings. Come out early so that you can play all day in the play grounds. Aug 21-24-27

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 7:37-53.

37 In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink.

38 He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.

39 (But this spake he of the Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive: for the Holy Ghost was not yet given; because that Jesus was not yet glorified.)

40 Many of the people therefore, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is the Prophet.

41 Christ said, This is the Christ.

But some said, Shall Christ come outof Galilee?

42 Hath not the scripture said, That Christ cometh of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethelehem, where David was?

43 So there was a division among the people because of him.

44 And some of them would have taken him; but no man laid hands on him.

45 Then came the officers to the chief priests and Pharisees; and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Never man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived?

48 Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed on him?

49 But this people who knoweth not the law are cursed.

50 Nicodemus saith unto them, (he that came to Jesus by night, being one of them,)

51 Doth our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he doeth?

52 They answered and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search, and look: for out of Galilee ariseth no prophet.

53 And every man went unto his own house.

The New Combatant in the War

Just how important a figure Japan's declaration of war on Germany is likely to cut in the tremendous conflict of European nations will doubtless depend on whether or no Japanese operations are to be confined to Aasiatic borders. The declaration of war is not in any sense a surprise. It was a foregone conclusion from the moment Japan, more than a week ago, issued its ultimatum in which it demanded that the Germans get out of Kiao-Chau, China, and permit the restoration of that territory to China

Nobody expected Germany to acquiesce in the demand. She could not have done so without placing herself in the attitude of fearsome retreat from her position, a contingency that would have been inconceivable in the situation in which Germany now finds herself. The effect of yielding to Japanese demands would have been almost certainly fatal to German hopes elsewhere. She could do with dignity nothing else than reject the Tokio proposal.

So long as Japan adheres to its announced intention to refrain from operations against Germany in Europe or in European seas, it is difficult to see how the new combatant is going to figure importantly in the main general results of the European war. But it is the irony of fate that the nation which really taught Japan how to fight should now find itself the target for the mikado's guns.

The resignation of George A. Bittler, of Fort Wayne, as a member of the state board of accounts, because of his nomination as the democratic candidate for state treasurer, discloses a praiseworthy and tactful sense of the fitness of things. While not legally required to quit the place, Mr. Bittler felt that he should not remain on the payroll of the state in one position while campaigning for another, and the decision does him infinite credit. He has made a splendid record on the accounting board that should count much as a testimonial of his fitness for the state treasurership. His successor on the board of accounts, Rev. Thomas H. Kuhn, gives every promise of bringing to the work the same high grade of efficiency that has characterized Mr. Bittler's occupany of the place.

Members of the city council were hosts to invited guests at a picnic up along the St. Joe river Sunday, at which "a perfectly lovely time was had." Happily, the Barr street legislative body is philosopher enough to appreciate the fact that it is not well to take oneself too seriously, and that one might as well have a bit of relaxation along with work that is often arduous and usually thankless.

The pathway of the congressional candidate this year is going to be beset by a new variety of trouble just as soon as the woman suffrage organization complete and make public a "black list" which they now have in preparation. It will list all the nominees who are either squarely opposed to votes for women or who are so artfully dodging the question that nobody is able to discover where they stand on the proposition.

Five hundred Mexican diplomats stationed in various parts of the world may be expected to coincide in the clamorous opinion that the new government by Carranza is going to be a tremendously dismal failure. They have just lost their jobs, and that's a "sign" to which the man who loses usually pins the most implicit faith.

The Indiana voter is solemnly cautioned against allowing himself to become so absorbed in the European war news that he will fail to take advantage of the earliest opportunity to register this fall. In Allen county the first registration day is September 5.

PRESS ON AMERICAN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Commercial Supremacy.

Boston Advertiser: "The more quickly the United States awakens to its opportunities in South America the more firmly may a foundation for our commercial supremacy there be established."

Appealing for Aid.

Rochester Post-Express: "South America is not only willing to buy of us, but is appealing to this country to aid her in meeting the situation created when most of the supply of manufactured products which she has been receiving from Europe was shut off."

The Conclusion.

Columbia State: "If the United States does not succeed in establishing a great commerce with South America and the orient during the next few months the inevitable conclusion will be that commercial success is what the United States does not deserve."

New Era This Year.

Baltimore American: "A new and greater era of growth and development for this New World hemisphere begins with this year 1914. The two Americas must stand together for American ideals in government, and they must get together in closer trade affiliations."

Opportunities Greater.

Albany Knickerbocker Press: "The opportunity of American bankers and merchants and shippers, backed by the American government, to obtain trade advantages of South America are now greater than we had ever before dreamed of."

Philadelphia Ledger: "It is an hour when all partisan bias can be stifled and when all parties may unite in a common cause for their country's lasting good."

Start Can Be Made.

Syracuse Post Standard: "An American merchant navy cannot be improvised, but a start can be made at the present moment which will be of enormous importance hereafter to American trade."

Should Get Busy.

New York Tribune: "Cotton and woollen manufacturers, the big steel companies, the shoemakers and many others should cease temporarily their clamoring for protection and get busy. The markets of the world belong to them, at least temporarily."

CENSORING THE CENSORS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

It is useless to expect the lifting of the embargo put upon news telegrams by somebody in all the countries which are at war, but it may be the pleasure of the newspapers which have been unwillingly and protestingly made a party to sins of omission and of commission to make a note of the identity of the censors and their abettors and one day visit upon them a deserved retribution.

The day will come when conditions will defy censorship, when there ill be mighty poiltical readjustments on account of the wars, when the peace correspondent will not have all the avenues to vital activities closed to him as they are now to the war correspondents, and when the news purveyors who are now gagged by censors and by "army orders" will be transformed into free lances of censorship. It will then be their pleasure, under the direction of their journals, to make the aftermath of the carnage more abundant though less ghastly than the harvest of death and robbery of homes and territory.

The present censorship is inexcusable from any point of view. The captains of each army and the governments they represent are at all times aware of the movements of the "enemy." They do not wait for information through the columns of the newspapers. They know the position of all the armies, or whether a fight has made for a victory or the reverse. As the whole world is affected, it would be merely common decency to let the world know what they know without those deceptions and evasions which are all speedily discovered and made ground for contempt.

A Human Story from Belgian Battlefields

Staff Correspondent in the Heart of Fighting Zone, Tells of Blood, Carnage and Destruction Everywhere.

(By H. P. Burton.)

(Staff Cable Dispatch, Copyright, 1914, Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

London, Aug. 24.—What is the actual fighting like in the very heart of the great European war?

What is there to be seen in the villages, along the roads, in the fields? How do people in the homes, in the streets, in the country places take it?

I am just a plain American citizen who has never seen war! I have always lived in the peace of Cleveland, Ohio, mostly, and in Chicago and New York.

Could I not go to this scene of horror and devastation and tell the folks at home, my country people, something definite, something of human interest, something that would interest them more than the dull, heavy mass of cable dispatches about fighting, skirmishes, troop movements and the like? Could I, who had always lived where there was peace, not tell them just how terrible this war is?

I said I'd try.

Burton Goes Over to Belgium to See.

So I went to Belgium and now I am just back in London to cable exactly what I saw.

In performing my task I succeeded in penetrating to within a dozen miles of Liege, to a point where the sky was alight with fire, the air acrid with powder and the whole arch of the heavens reverberating with the thunderclap of cannon.

It had been easy to reach Brussels. I sailed from Folkstone, England, to Ostend, the famous resort on the Belgian coast.

The trip to Brussels through the marshlands was uneventful, the train but ten minutes late.

But in Brussels I began to notice the first active signs of war raging so terribly from Liege westward. The great Palace hotel at Brussels had already been turned into an immense hospital and big Red Cross signs were painted in every window.

I was at once sent to the bureau of the gendarmerie, on Boulevard Waterloo, to declare myself, and there I requested a pass to Liege.

"How shall I get to the front?" I asked a sergeant. "Automobiles are $50 a day."

"The trains are still running," he laughed. "The Germans can't hurt us: Belgium is still the greatest summer resort in the world!"

Setting Fire to Their Own Golden Wheat.

So I bought a second-class ticket to Louvan, fifteen miles away, then still the seat of the Belgian army.

The ride to Louvain began to tell me how very terrible this European war is going to be. Everywhere I saw farmers setting fire to their ripening wheat fields so the hated Germans could get no food could get not even a dry kernel of hunger-satisfying wheat.

Along the roads motors filled with armed soldiers were passing this way and that, and armed messengers on bicycles rushed back and forth to the forts between Brussels and Louvain with dispatches from the government to the army.

Belgian, French and English flags decorated all houses and groups of Belgian peasants stood at every corner discussing "the terrible war news."

Just outside Louvain the train suddenly came to a standstill and a squad of Belgian cavalry came along guarding several Uhlans (Germany cavalrymen), who were laughing and joking with their captors while cigarettes hung impudently from their lips.

The Uhlans' uniform is a dusty green, so that they melt into the landscape and are bad targets for the enemy.

Gay Soldiers, Playing Children.

At Louvain the streets were fairly choked with soldiers. They marched along the sidewalks, drank before the cafes, played checkers on the curbs or dashed about in automobiles, but everywhere children were running and playing as usual, and pretty milliners stood in doorways awaiting for some one to buy the hats they had intended to sell to the American tourists this summer.

In front of the Hotel de Villa, which the Belgians had taken over as an army barracks, stood ten stacks of rifles, fifteen feet high, and in the quaint courtyard were two great military field wagons which were being personally guarded by Belgian officers. These wagons were filled with valuable records ready to fly north to the capital or Antwerp on an instant's notice.

While waiting for my passport to be examined before proceeding to Tirlemont, I noticed a black speck in the sky. It slowly grew into a giant aeroplane. There was a general rush into the streets and cries:

"C'est un aeroplane allemand;" (It is a German aeroplane.)

Then followed a subdued hush as the winged cruiser hung over the city hall. But the expected bomb did not fall, and soon checker games were resumed and milliners came back to the doorways smiling, but still doubtful smiles, and with many a pretty, anxious peek upward.

The cafes alone were doing business in Louvain. They were crowded and cries, "Un grand bock" (a big beer), filled the air and the fumes of liquor hung heavy.

Everywhere the less seriously wounded Belgian soldiers lay, awaiting aid.

The train for Tirlemont, filled with these soldiers, was held five minutes while a body of Boy Scouts passed the water to them.

Boy Scouts Pass Water to Wounded Soldiers.

The Boy Scouts (Belgian pronunciation "scots") range from one end of the train to the other, for every wounded soldier wants all the water he can get. At the front they got only two drinks daily.

At the front, from Tirlemont on, I realized I was truly in the heart of the most embattled country the world has seen.

Devastation is on every hand.

Most of this devastation in Belgium was carefully prepared by the Belgians themselves. This country is all flat, and each wood where the Germans might take refuse in future charges was cut down. I saw soldiers everywhere burning underbrush that might serve the Germans as bulwarks.

It was sickening to see the beautiful golden grain, all ready for the reaper, going down before the flames.

Deep trenches, filled with boughs and covered lightly with dirt, were being prepared as traps.

Silk-Lined Limousine and Little Ford Stained With Blood.

Bridges were being undermined to fall when the weight of the German troops came upon them.

The roads here swarmed with commandeered automobiles. I saw satin-lined limousines, stained with blood, as often as little Fords.

Each contained a continment of fresh soldiers, rushing to the front, or of wounded being brought back, each always guarded by carbineers standing up behind, rifles in hand.

There were scores upon scores of captured German Uhlans in evidence at this point, and they always seemed very gay, unless badly wounded. Their tents, thatched with straw, are everywhere.

The fields which way I look are one series of trenches thrown up as defenses against the enemy. Trees are thrown across roads, and barb wire entanglements reach across the land for miles.

One whole stretch of enchanted wood is filled with horrible traps and barbs that will strike back Teutonic invasion.

But the most noticeable thing is the gaiety. The Belgian troops have the perfect confidence in their prowess. All sorts of messages are chalked on trains and houses. The favorite one is "A Berlin!" meaning "On to Berlin."

An equally popular message, because it is chalked everywhere, is:

"The kaiser has mobilized God, but he can't make him march!"

From Landen to Waremme the train scarcely moved, and here we found that the German outposts were only a half hour ahead of us. Indeed, they had once taken the town of Waremme, but lost it back to Belgium.

Cook Every Meal to Music of Cannonading.

The peasants were again in their homes peacefully cooking the evening meal as though a deafening cannonade were a common thing. So I took heart myself and went into the cafe Lion d'Or for supper.

There I met the burgomaster of Liege, himself on parole from the Germans. I tried to draw him into conversation, but he was too sad.

"I can not speak," he said; "it is too sad. My citizens are being harassed by the Germans. It is terrible! But we shall have revenge," and he smiled a little.

"The English will help us now. When they get here we shall see!"

As the train started back to Brussels and safety, night came on and the sky in the east glowed with the German campfires. But through the air, mixing with revelry, were Belgian voices singing the national hymn.

MAGICAL EFFECT OF NEW FACE PEELER.

To maintain a clear, white, youthful complexion, there's nothing so simple to use and yet so effective as ordinary mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store. Just apply the wax at night as you would cold cream. In the morning wash it off with warm water. If you've never tried it you can't imagine the magical effect of this harmless home treatment. It causes the old worn-out scarf skin to come off in minute particles, a little at a time, and soon you have entirely shed the offensive cuticle. The fresh young underskin now in evidence is so healthy and girlish looking, so free from any appearance of artificiality, you wonder why you had not heard of this marvelous complexion renewing secret long ago.

Equally magical in its action is a simple wrinkle removing lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in this for two or three minutes immediately affects every line and furrow and improves facial contour wonderfully.

SHADED SECTION OF MAP SHOWS WHAT GERMANS SAY THE KAISER WILL TAKE IF HE WINS.

Why were all the nations so eager to disclaim responsibility for starting the war?

Were they only anxious to justify themselves to the world from a humane point of view?

Not entirely. At the end of the war some one—the whipped ones—WILL HAVE A BIG BILL TO PAY—A BILL WHICH ON CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE IS ROLLING UP AT THE RATE OF $50,000,000 A DAY.

That bill will be treasure and territory!

The billion dollars cash and the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine which Germany received from France in 1871, when compared to the tribute demanded in 1914, will look like change from a newsboy.

The carefully worked out plans which, as everyone knows Germany made years ago for the present war, did not only include tactics and strategy but, in their completeness, the aftermath, the reconstruction period as well.

Exactly what the kaiser will demand in the event of victory is known only to himself and his intimate advisers but popular belief in Germany foreshadows the government's plans which begin with England.

Britain, the kaiser has said, might have kept out of the war with honor. But England chose to interfere. Its fleets tend to disrupt the kaiser's plans. Hence, the Germans say, ENGLAND MUST PAY, and if defeated will be levied upon for the bulk of the indemnity needed to reimburse the victors.

Belgium for its resistance, will be absorbed into the empire as Alsace-Lorraine was. The port of Antwerp has always been longed for by Germans. Holland will be gobbled for its tidy lot of colonies.

France, failing to get its revenge from 1871, will pay for 1914 with another big bag of money and large slices of territory. This time, according to German statements, the penalty will be A LARGE CHUNK OF ITS NORTHERN SEA COAST from Belgium to Cherbourg.

Look at the map and see what such spoils of war mean. England's "splendid isolation" will become a memory. Instead of being guarded by two neutral buffer states, most of its eastern sea coast will be perpetually menaced by a powerful neighbor, Germany. The indemnity demanded will be large enough to prevent Britain from setting the naval pace in naval armament. Germany will become mistress of the seas.

France will be crushed. German occupation of the seacoast will make a cavalry raid on Paris, in the event of trouble, a matter of hours.

From a commercial point of view the advantages to Germany are even greater. To an all German route from America, or the Orient, to Berlin will be shortened 24 hours. Instead of being forced to navigate the channel and North Sea to Hamburg, or Bremen, fast liners from New York and from the far east by way of the Panama canal, will land passengers at Cherbourg where they will be whisked, by German trains over a new railroad direct from Cherbourg to Berlin.

Germany, having control of the best continental harbors will control the vast channel trade between England and Europe. All passengers and freight for France and the interior will first pass over German territory.

Antwerp will have its uses. It will continue to be the greatest commercial harbor of the continent and here German freighters will discharge cargoes brought from all over the world into German territory without making the tedious run into the North Sea. Rotterdam and other Dutch and Flemish ports will continue to get a share of trade but under the German flag.

JAP EMPEROR'S WAR RESCRIPT

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The emperor of Japan has declared war upon Germany. This action was taken at the expiration of the time limit of Japan's ultimatum to Germany, demanding the surrender of Kiao Chow.

The Japanese government has ordered the beginning of operations on land and sea. The text of the imperial rescript is:

"Issued at Tokio, August 23, six p. m.

"We by the grace of Heaven, emperor of Japan, seated on the throne occupied by the same dynasty from time immemorial do hereby make the following proclamation to all Our Loyal and brave subjects:

"We hereby declare war against Germany and we command our army and navy to carry on hostilities against that empire with their strength and we also command all our competent authorities to make every effort in pursuance of their respective duties to attain the national aim, by all means within the limits of the law of nations.

"Since the outbreak of the present war in Europe, calamitous effect of which we view with grave concern, We on our part have entertained hopes of preserving the peace of the far east by the maintenance of strict neutrality, but the action of Germany has at length compelled Great Britain, Our ally, to open hostilities against that country and Germany is at Kiao Chow, its leased territory in China, busy with warlike preparations, while its armed vessels cruising the seas of eastern Asia, are threatening our commerce and that of Our ally. Peace of the far east is thus in jeopardy.

"Accordingly, Our government and that of his Britannic majesty, after full and frank communication with each other agreed to take such measures as may be necessary for the protection of the general interests contemplated in the agreement of alliance and we on our part being desirious to attain that object of peaceful means commanded Our government to offer with sincerity our advice to the imperial German government. By the last day appointed for the purpose, however, Our government failed to receive an answer accepting their advice. It is with profound regret that We, in spite of Our ardent devotion to the cause of peace, are thus compelled to declare war especially at this early period of Our reign and while We are still in mourning for Our lamented mother.

"It is our earnest wish that by the loyalty and valor of Our faithful subjects, peace may soon be restored and the glory of the empire enhanced."

Conferences have been held daily recently by the privy council and officers of the army and navy. The cabinet arranged plans which will be gazeted tomorrow.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Mathias Watson, 46 years old, was killed and two other men badly hurt when an old ice box they were trying to move from a dairy plant collapsed here late yesterday.

To all outward appearance the ice box was a huge wooden affair of no particular weight. The box, however, was lined with cork and was damp and heavy. It also was covered with a heavy layer of damp sawdust. Two of the men were inside the ice box when it broke down.

Martin Family Reunion.

The seventh reunion of the Martin family was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, whose residence is two miles east of Monroeville. Mr. Martin has attained the venerable age of ninety and a feature of the reunion of special interest to him was an address by County Commissioner Jasper Jones, whose first school teacher was Mr. Martin. There were other features of an informal program that gave both Mr. and Mrs. Martin much pleasure too. There was a talk by Rev. Mr. Crabbs, of Monroeville, and another by Rev. Mr. Hollopeter. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Martin, of this city, delighted the entire company by singing a duet and Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Newark, O., and Mrs. Crabbs in a duet and solo by Arthur Hume were followed by the entire company singing a hymn. Mrs. Crabbs and Mrs. Mattie VanBuskirk gave recitations. No new officers were elected, those already in charge being requested to continue. The forbears of this particular branch of the Martin family were Pennsylvania Germans.

Peigh, B. J. Roberts and Miss Novella Roberts, of Fort Wayne; with their families. Ten grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are Charlie, Kenneth and Lucile Briner, Mrs. George Sanders, from near Huntington; Bruce S. Peigh, of this city; Floyd B. Both Mr. and Mrs. Roberts moved to Indiana to live in 1853 with their parents and were married ten years later. Their first home was on a farm one mile west of Roanoke. Last March Mr. and Mrs. Roberts came to Fort Wayne to live.

Mr. Roberts was born Dec. 4, 1833, and

AT THE MAJESTIC.

The Advance Sale Opens Big for "The Light Eternal."

In spite of the fact that over twenty performances of "The Light Eternal" have been given in this city, the interest in the play does not seem to wane. Whether it is because of the fact that the management will give a percentage of the receipts to the Red Cross fund in response to President Wilson's appeal, or whether it is the play itself, it is hard to determine, but the indications are that it will come up to its former record. This is very gratifying to the managers, both of the company and the house, as it is their desire to add to the worthy cause a check that will compare favorably with any which may be received from a like source in any city.

The company has had the play in preparation for the past two weeks and is fit and ready to give a performance which will be up to the high standard set in its former productions here. Carpenters, machinists and electricians have been hard at work putting the finishing touches to the scenic investure and all is now in readiness for its first presentation on Tuesday afternoon. The box office is now open and the sale of seats going on. Secure your seats early, see an excellent play and help a good cause.

AT THE EMPRESS

That Fort Wayne people like the Marcus Loew vaudeville and the new scale of prices at the Empress theater, was demonstrated this afternoon when the playhouse was crowded to the doors by a wildly enthusiastic audience. The occasion was the opening of the Empress for the season and the first appearance in this city of the famous Marcus Loew vaudeville.

It has been frequently stated that Mr. Loew makes up his bills with the idea of having comedy predominate, because he figures that American audiences much prefer to laugh than to cry. This idea of Mr. Loew's is certainly well demonstrated in this opening bill at the Empress, which will be in view there until the new bill opens on Thursday matinee. The present bill is filled to the brim with comedy and the big audience at the Empress this afternoon fairly howled with delight.

The big hit of the bill was "Who Is She?" a comedy sketch of the liveliest possible nature, which is put on by James E. Bernard and Hazel Harrington. The sketch is so lively and surprising to explain it would be to spoil it for those who have not yet seen it. Everyone should go to the Empress the fore part of the week, if only to see this act.

McIntosh and his maids present a fine musical number and the Nichols Nelson troupe does some marvelous things with hoops and diabolos. Fred Hillebrand, a very tall comedian, has a funny line of conversation, while Hoyt and Wardell also have much humor in their sketch, "The Italian and the Boss." Davis and Mathews are sensational exponents of the modern dances and they made a big hit, too.

In connection with the vaudeville the Empress is showing the latest Pathe weekly and it has some very interesting views.

FARMER DROWNS IN EVERETT LAKE

Suffered Cramps After Having Saved Small Stepson from Water.

Stricken with an attack of cramps shortly after having saved his small stepson, Raymond Dickson, from drowning at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Everett lake, Jasper Cornwell, aged forty-two years, a farmer, sank beneath the surface and drowned before help could be obtained. Cornwell was a tenant on the farm of Frank Brown, on the Lettig road near the Allen-Whitley county line.

Mr. and Mrs. ornwell with two sons, Theodore and Raymond, drove to the lake to spend Sunday and the man and boys went bathing early in the afternoon. Raymond, unable to swim, got into deep water but was held up by Cornwell until other bathers came and took the boy to the shore. Just as he released his hold upon the lad he threw up his hands and went under.

The body was found a short time later and removed with grappling hooks. Coroner E. H. Kruse with Detective Martin Rundell, of the police department, and Deputy Sheriff Witte went to the lake in an automobile and had the body removed to the residence.

AT THE TEMPLE

The all-Keith vaudeville season at the Temple theater is on. It is the tenth and last year for this popular play shop in the short order entertainment field and the management, judging by the current bill, is out to make it a brilliant finish. This bill, which includes such classy acts as Lew Hawkins, the veteran minstrel man; Allman and Nevins, Jack Kennedy and company, Marcou and a wealth of others, will close Wednesday night to be succeeded by another of the Temple's all-star layouts. Hawkins, the old time black face king, is right up to the minute with all his sonugs and stories. He has a long rigamorole on the European war situation that is a positive scream and his new and original parodies get over big. "The Tenor and the Country Girl Fiddler" is as novel a skit as one will encounter in many a trip to a vaudeville house, while Jack Kennedy's Irish comedy sketch, "O'Ttoole's Generosity," is a rare bit of fun that scored a real hit in three shows yesterday. Marcou's wonderful shadowgraph stuff never grows old, as he never seems to reach a limit with his novelties in this line. The Six Abdallahs put on a peppery, snappy ground-tumbling act that is a positive delight. Coupled with this sterling array of straight vaudeville the Temple is showing the crack Mutual weekly films, an education themselves in the current events of the world. The same split week scheme of operation will obtain this season as last, and Thursday will find an entirely new bill on the boards.

GIANT ARMIES WAGE DESPERATE STRUGGLE

Paris, Aug. 24.—10:50 a. m.—The following official announcement was made here today:

"The great battle between the greater portion of the forces of England and France against the bulk of the German army continues today.

"The mission of the English and the French is to hold virtually the entire German army in Belgium, while our Russian allies pursue their success in the east."

The Russians occupy territory fifty miles wide on the German frontier.

After a great victory the Servians have made safe Austrian territory to the north of them.

Germans Occupy Nancy.

A rumor is in circulation in Paris this morning that the Germans have occupied the unfortified town of Nancy. This report, however, lacks confirmation.

BIG GUNS BATTER FORTS AT LIEGE

London. Aug. 24.—In a dispatch from Rotterdam the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that after many days of quiet, sounds of the vigorous bombardment of Liege reached the frontier near Maestricht on Sunday. They were heard for hours and indicated that the Germans are making a tremendous effort to clear this long standing danger from their line of supply and that to this end they had brought their heaviest howitzers into action.

Fugitives report, the correspondent continues, that the Liege forts have caused great inconvenience to the Germans by destroying their pontoon bridges over the Meuse.

The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from Antwerp saying that a Belgian who succeeded in getting to Liege and back reports that the Germans have built eight pontoon bridges across the Meuse between Liege and the Dutch frontier.

Nancy is the capital of the department of Meurtha and Mosselle, 35 miles south of Metz, on the bank of the river Meurthe. It is about ten miles from the German frontier. It is one of the finest and best built towns in France, and has a population of over 90,000. Of the ancient fortifications of the town, only the citadel has been preserved.

The Matin today quotes a German prisoner at Montpelier as follows:

"Your French artillery is admirable. It destroyed in a few minutes intrenchments which we spent three days in making. The greater portion of our men were killed, while others rushed to the rear with frightened cries as if some supernatural force had intervened against them.

"I am glad to be a prisoner; it is better than being under the yoke of German officers."

MOVE WITH GREAT SPEED.

Two German Columns Sweep Southward Toward Valenciennes.

London, Aug. 24.—The Ostend correspondent of the Daily Mail says that the German columns are marching southward toward Valenciennes on the Scheldt, thirty-one miles southeast of Lille, one proceeding by way of Ninove and Grammont and Lessinesa, Belgium, and the other going by way of Hal, Braine-le-Comte and Mons, Belgium. They are moving with great speed.

Further nortwest advanced parties have appeared and done damage successively at Thielt and Lichtervelde. It is suggested that this means a dash upon Roubaix, one of the wealthiest of French towns or upon Lille. In that case the movement toward Valenciennes probably would be an encircling one.

An Exchange Telegraph company dispatch from Nish, referring to the Servian victory on the Drina, says the Servian artillery sank a number of the enemy's boats, including eight transport carrying troops. The dispatch says the Austrians are marching on the banks of the Drina and are preparing for a desperate attempt to regain lost ground.

A dispatch from Paris to the Daily Mail says:

"Former Premier Clementau continues his campaign against the government policy of withholding from the public the whole truth in the war news." General Pau is the hero of the hour. He is seventy years old and has only one arm, having lost the other in the war of 1870. He was recalled to active service in an advisory capacity and appeared with the army in Alsace. He was to have taken personal charge of the operations at Muelhausen."

Democratic Meeting is to Be Held Saturday Afternoon.

Secretary Otto Koenig, of the democratic central committee, of Allen county, announces that the meeting of candidates and voters at headquarters this week is to be held Saturday afternoon and not Saturday evening, as announced last week by Chairman W. A. Johnson. At this time the committeemen will be given instructions concerning the registration of voters at the extra period, to be held September 5.

It is regarded by all local political leaders, representing all parties, that registration is the one all-important subject at this time and attention to getting out a heavy registration will be given carefully.

Drum Corps Meeting.

The drum corps of the Jefferson club will meet Monday night at headquarters for the purpose of arranging a field day program to be held at Centlivre park, Sunday, September 6. The county candidates will also be present. President Jerre O'Connor states that it is important that the candidates and committeemen interest themselves in the program to make the day a success.

Progressive Meeting.

A meeting of progressive voters who are residents of the Sixth ward is to be held Friday evening, August 28, at the home of J. M. Young, 3135 Thompson avenue, at which time it is hoped to complete the progressive organization in the Sixth ward.

LEVY WAR FINES AS PUNISHMENT

London, Aug. 24.—4:50 a. m.—The Daily Mail's Rotterdam correspondent quotes an article from the Cologne Gazette in justification of the fines levied on Brussels and Liege, as follows:

"The war tribute is a punishment for the bad treatment of Germans by Belgium two weeks ago, when innocent Germans at Brussels were handed over to the tender mercies of the mob.

"What happened there will ever be a stain on the honor of the Belgian people. We deliberated as to what would be a fitting requital and it seems that to punish is impracticable, except by legal process. Another measure possible is a war tax allowed by the law of nations.

"She must suffer all the burdens allowed by the legal right of law, such as quartering troops and furnishing supplies, until all her resources are exhausted, so that the citizens can feel personally that hunting defenseless women is different from having an enemy in their own homes.

"The legal punishment for the offenses of the Belgians will be imposed as fully as allowed by law."

YOUNG LADIES TRY BASE BALL AS PART OF THE WALTHER LEAGUE PICNIC AMUSEMENT PROGRAM.

Girls, tight skirts, a miniature gale and a torrid sun are combinations that militate against base ball as exemplified by young ladies. These elements broke up the girls, game that was part and parcel of a most interesting program given by the Fort Wayne Walther leaguers at their picnic in Bleke's grove on Sunday.

The girls had agreed to play and they were game and really did start but throwing and running are not for girls and after they had shown they were true to their promise they stopped with the score—Well nobody knows. In the accompanying illustrations the girls who agreed to play are shown but some of them hired substitutes and there were changes before the nines took the field.

There was a fine attendance and the committee in charge of the affair did all the members could think of to make the day pleasant and there was an athletic program following the Concordia-Zion base ball game in the forenoon which went to Concordia in a hot contest ten to nine, giving the winners the Walther league pennant.

In the track events the results were:

100-yard dash—Slagle, first; Bartels, second, and Brant, third.

50-yard dash for girls—R. Klingenberger, first; H. Walda, second, and E. Walda, third.

220-yard dash—Bartels, first; Brant, second, and Reinking, third.

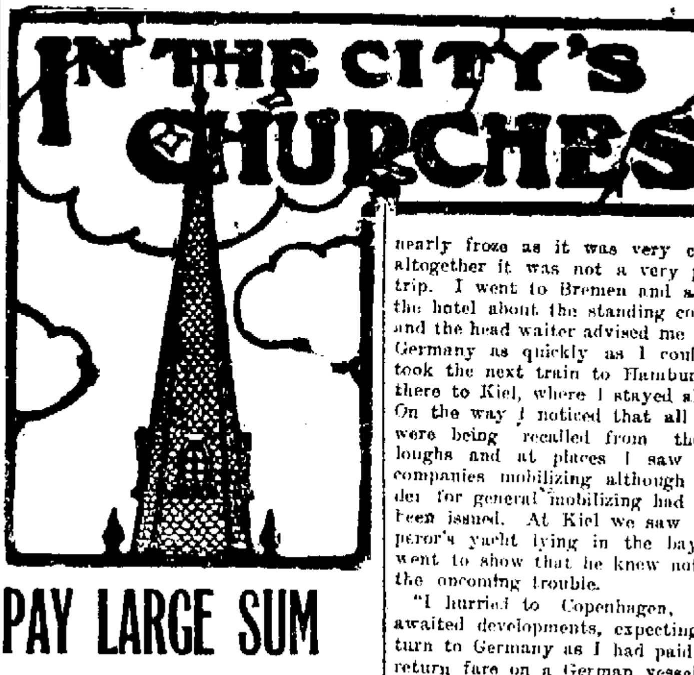
Clothes pin race for girls—H. Walda, first; E. Walda, second, and A. Heimke, third.

Running broad jump—Slagle, first; Rose, second, and Humbrecht, third.

Hop-step-and-jump—Humbrecht, first; Baade, second, and Slagle, third.

Three-legged race—Won by Rose and Lerch pair.

The outing had for its object a better acquaintance among the league members to insure co-operation in the good work in which they are engaged and the results were highly satisfactory to the committees in charge.



PAY LARGE SUM FOR HIS PASSAGE

Rev. Henry Katt Tells Story of His Escape from Germany.

Rev. Henry Katt, formerly of this city and who is now located in Terre Haute as pastor of the Emmanuel's Lutheran church and who is now visiting his son, August C. Katt, of 1633 Oakland street, of this city, tells of his escape from Germany where he was visiting when war broke out. By luck he secured first class passage securing the last ticket for which he paid the handsome price of 350 crowns, which approximately is $450 in United States money.

Following is the story of his escape and experiences in his own words:

"When I arrived in Germany everything was peaceful and I spent several weeks in the northern part of the country visiting friends and relatives. I came to Aurich, Germany, on Sunday morning, July 13, and while at the breakfast table in the hotel received the news that Russia had declared war against Austria. We all knew that Germany would be implicated and a traveling man said that he was going to leave for Hanover as quickly as possible for if Germany's army were mobilized he would have to remain for many weeks. This applied to myself but due to several reasons I could not leave immediately.

"Monday morning I had to hire a farmer's wagon to convey me to the nearest railroad station which was a three hours' ride away. On the way I nearly froze as it was very cold and altogether it was not a very pleasant trip. I went to Bremen and asked at the hotel about the standing conditions and the head waiter advised me to leave Germany as quickly as I could, so I took the next train to Hamburg, from there to Kiel, where I stayed all night. On the way I noticed that all soldiers were being recalled from their furloughs and at places I saw various companies mobilizing although the order for general mobilizing had not yet been issued. At Kiel we saw the emperor's yacht lying in the bay which went to show that he knew nothing of the oncoming trouble.

"I hurried to Copenhagen, where I awaited developments, expecting to return to Germany as I had paid for my return fare on a German vessel in advance. But conditions became worse and worse and fearing that Denmark would also be implicated, I hurried to the Scandinavian steamship company, where by sheer luck I secured the last first cabin ticket for which they charged me 350 crowns. Everyone was anxious and none knew until twelve hours before sailing whether the ship would be allowed to leave. We left on August 6, taking a northern route past Christiana, north of Scotland, and past the Orkney islands, which are in the same latitude as the southern point of Greenland. The weather was very uncomfortable and the sea was very rough.

"The ship United States, on which we sailed, was stopped after a day's journey from Copenhagen and everyone feared that we would have to return, but the cause of the delay was explained by the fact that some of the officers on board ship belonged to the national guard and were called back. Anxiety was present during the entire trip and everyone was glad when the statue of Liberty came in sight.

"Many well to do people had to be contented with steerage passage across, among which were many clergymen, financiers and also the ex-mayor of Seattle, who had attended the Good Templars' convention at Christiana. When the ship left Copenhagen the wharf was crowded with people who sang the national hymn of Norway and the Americans on board ship responded with the song, 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.' I am indeed thankful that I arrived back safe and sound to the country which I call the land of sunshine and starlight."

TWO SERMONS WERE GIVEN.

Large Crowds Present at Celebration of Tenth Anniversary of Concordia Church.

At the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the dedication of the Concordia Lutheran church held Sunday at the house of worship two sermons of interest were delivered, one in the morning by Rev. August Lange and one in the evening by Rev. Baur. Both services were attended by large audiences who listened attentively to the sermons and to the special music prepared for the occasion.

Rev. Lange, whose discourse was in the German language, chose for his text, "The House of Worship," taken from Psalms 26, 18. He offered thanks for the preservation of the church and earnestly urged his listeners to respect the house of God and to attend all the public services. He touched briefly upon the history of the congregation.

Rev. John Baur, who spoke in the evening gave a sermon in English on the subject, "The Loyalty of the Lutheran Christian to His Church." In general his sermon touched upon the same points as did Rev. Lange's in the morning. He pleaded for lives of usefulness to the church and of service and help to one's fellowmen.

Paid Tribute to Pius X.

All the sermons delivered Sunday at the Catholic churches in the city were devoted to the late Pope Pius X and touching tributes were paid him. Rev. J. R. Quinlan, of the Cathedral, in his discourse brought out and emphasized the motto of the beloved pontiff which was, "To Restore All Things to Christ." In an interesting manner he reviewed his life from his childhood days until his demise last Thursday, in which he portrayed the great virtues which characterized his holiness.

JAPAN TSRIKES ITS FIRST BLOW QUICKLY

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The Yamato in an extra edition today says that the bombardment of Tsing Tau by the Japanese fleet has commenced. This message was passed by the censor of the navy department.

A unanimous approval of the war, which is calmly and dispassionately discussed, summarizes public opinion. The newspapers express regret over the necessity of hostilities with Germany and urge the public to refrain from exhibiting resentment toward the Germans in Japan.

They print messages of cheer to the army and navy who they hope will be quickly victorious. An imperial messenger went to the shrines of Ise to inform the spirits of the imperial ancestors of Japan's declaration of war. It is announced that a flock of white doves descended on the roof of the imperial sanctuary at the moment of the expiration of the ultimatum to Germany and this is accepted as an omen of speedy victory.

The Ladies' Patriotic association with a membership of 100,000, is sending to the volunteer nurses comfort packages for the soldiers and will provide for the families of those who have been called to the service. The Red Cross society is equipping a hospital ship.

Communication between Japan and China has been severed for 24 hours Except for meagre news that has reached here from New York the entire country is kept in the dark regarding the progress of the war in Europe. It is believed that the cable between Shanghai and Nagasaki has been cut. The officers of the army and navy are absolutely sphynx-like regarding the events of the China sea. Everything is quiet here the attitude of the public appearing almost indifferent.

LITTLE FUSS ABOUT IT.

Break in Relations Between Germany and Japan Very Simple Matter.

Berlin, (Via Copenhagen), Aug. 24.—2:20 p. m.—The rupture of relations between Japan and Germany was effected in a simple manner.

A representative of the German ministry of foreign affairs proceeded Sunday to the Japanese embassy and handed the Japanese charge d'affaires his passports with the verbal remark that Germany had no response to make to Japan's ultimatum concerning the surrender of Kiao Chow.

The Japanese representative turned his embassy and its archieves over to the protection of the American ambassador.

Keeping In Touch With All The Live Sports of The World

THE FORT WAYNE EVENING SENTINEL'S SPORT PAGE

SEASON OF 1914 IS RECORD YEAR

Major Leagues Have Done More Trading Than Ever Known Before.

New York, Aug. 24.—The baseball season of 1914, already noted as a period of unusual occurrences in the national sport, promises to establish a record for the purchase and exchange of players in the big leagues. Omitting entirely any reference to the sensational trades and purchases which preceded the opening of the pennant races, the present season has been an exceptional one in this respect. With the exception of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics every club in both the American and National leagues has made unusual efforts toward strengthening one or more departments by means of exchange or cash transactions. Not alone have the minor associations been invaded but big league clubs have dealt with each other to an extent greater than has been the case in other years.

In the American league Boston secured Egan, Shore and Ruth from the Baltimore club of the International; Hoblitzel from Cincinnati; Vean Gregg from Cleveland in exchange for Coumbe, R. Johnson and Egan, as well as several minor leagues and college players. The Chicago White Sox have signed or released to date an even dozen players, not including Hal Chase, who jumped to the Buffalo Federals. The dealing, however, has been confined to the minor and college class, although Comiskey holds the present season record in his purchase of Fielder Felch from Milwaukee of the American association, at $12,000 cash and two players.

The New York Americans have purchased, exchanged or released sixteen players since April 14. Some of the big league material secured includes Catcher Nunamaker from Boston Americans, Pitcher Carroll Brown from the Athletics in addition to Birdie Cree from Baltimore Internationals. Cleveland is another club which has dipped deeply into the players' mart. Close to twenty players have been bought, sold, exchanged or lost by desertion this season. A majority of these transactions involved minor leagues, the principal major league deal being with the Boston Americans, whereby Pitcher Vean Gregg went to the Red Sox in exchange for Pitchers Coumbes and Johnson and Catcher Ben Egan.

Aside from the purchase of two minor league players and the release of Catcher Gibson the Detroit club has stood pat to date and the same may be said of Clarke Griffith's Washington combination. The Capitol club purchased Outfielder Mike Mitchell from the Pittsburg Nationals, released Pitchers Collier and Cashion and secured J. E. Blair from the Martinsburg (W. Va.) club. The St. Louis Browns released two players and purchased one for future delivery.

Far more activity in this direction has been shown in the National league. The Cincinnati club record shows that close to thirty players have figured in one way or another in club deals or jumped to the Federal league. Claude Derrick was bought from Baltimore and then traded to Chicago for First Baseman Mollowitz. Hoblitzel went to the Boston Americans and Tex Erwin from Brooklyn to Cincinnati and back again. Bert Daniels, former Yankee, and part of Jack Dunn's $60,000 Baltimore International league assets found his way to the Cincinnati club, to say nothing of a number of minor league and college players.

Pittsburg scouts, too, have been busy and the Pirates have thirteen deals of one kind or another to their credit. Aside from the deal with Washington whereby Mike Mitchell was sold, the transaction involved the purchase or release of players from or to minor leagues. The Philadelphia Nationals have ten transactions on record, the principal one being the trade of Josh Devore to Boston for Third Baseman John Martin. Boston records show some thirteen deals the major transfers including the sale of George Beck to the Cleveland Americans the trading of Hub Perdue to St. Louis for Players Whitted and Cather and John Devore's acquisition for John Martin.

The Chicago Cubs have eleven transactions in the record. Eliminating the minor league purchases and releases, the schedule shows that Pitcher Koestner was sold to Cincinnati and First Baseman Mollowitz traded to the same club for Claude Derrick. The St. Louis Cardinals have held fairly steady to the early season enrollment. Hagerman was sold to the Chicago Nationals and Witted and Cather traded to Boston for Pitcher Perdue. The other deals involve minor league players.

The New York Giants have a list of thirteen players signed or released this season, but not in a single case does another major league club figure in the dealing. Brooklyn's principal efforts in this direction include the sale of Kraft to Boston, Riggert to St. Louis, Erwin to Cincinnati and Smith to Boston.

ROWAN TO STICK IN THE CENTRAL

Probably Will Not Get a Chance to Go Up in Base Ball.

(Special to The Sentinel).

Dayton, O., Aug. 24.—In framing up a club for next season the management of the Dayton pennant winners are counting on Jack Rowan as a member of the pitching staff as it is practically certain he will not get another chance in faster company, having been thrice returned to the Vets following two starts in the majors.

He demonstrated by winning 4 to 3 the opening clash of a bargain bill at the park here Sunday that he has plenty of good class B pitching left in him and possibly he could make good in class A or AA, but he refuses to pitch in any organization other than the majors or with Dayton, and this determination is probably costing him some money, but the fact that when he is with the Vets he is able to spend half of his time at home probably exerts some influence in shaping his course.

In his Sabbath engagement with the Billikens he got the break when Holderman dropped a throw at first and this was followed by two runs that gave the home troupe the edge. Utrecht's loss of this game was largely due to this misplay as he held his own with Rowan all the way, and was hit only once more than the local moundsman.

Fort Wayne made a strong finish in this game but the handicap imposed in the opening innings was too heavy for the club to carry and it lost out by a margin of one run.

In the second half of the double bill Phil Stremmel went to the bad in the second inning and neither Noel or Wachtel, both sent in as rescuers, was able to stop the enemy and it hung up a victory of 14 to 0. In this game Tommy Atkins gave an excellent exhibition of expert left-hand hurling and gave only five hits and no runs in the seven innings the affair lasted.

The clubs are booked for a Monday game owing to a postponement early in the season, when a game was declared off to give Dayton a chance to play an exhibition game.

Favorite Remedy for Diarrhoea.

"About three years ago I had a serious attack of summer complaint. The doctor's medicine failed to benefit me, so I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy upon the recommendation of one of my neighbors. One dose of it did me more good than all the other medicine I had used. I improved rapidly and in a short time I was well," writes Mrs. May Higgins, Peru, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

SPEEDY COMBINATION AT SECOND BASE IS NECESSARY TO THE SUCCESS OF A BASE BALL TEAM.

Analyze the Boston Braves. Why are they winning?

You will reply: Tyler, Rudolph, James, sometimes Crutcher and Hess.

Yes, but pitchers alone cannot win; hitters alone cannot win. Figure the entire team. First base mediocre, third base wabbly, outfield weak and uncertain. Where is the team?

The answer is Evers, Maranville. Now study the winning ball clubs of all time in baseball, and you will commence to realize the value of speed, action and hustle around that second base. Begin with this broad assertion that there never has been a great baseball club that did not have a great second baseman and a great shortstop at the same time.

There never will be a great ball club unless it possesses a second base shortstop combination outside the ordinary.

The importance of this combination is overlooked by many teams and by many critics.

Eliminate putouts (thrown balls caught) by the first baseman and strikeouts, and the second baseman and shortstop handle more balls in play than the other nine players combined. They are in more plays than all the others combined save first baseman and catcher. A weak man in either place spells ruin for the club's pennant chances.

Go back into the history of the game. Ward and Richardson, with New York in the late '80s, Rowe and Dunlap, Williamson and Pfeffer, Gleason and Yank Robinson, with the Browns, Hughie Jennings and Henry Reitz, with Baltimore, Herman Long and Link Lowe with Boston, Hobe Ferris and Freddie Parent with Boston, Evers and Tinker with the Cubs, Bush and Schaefer with Detroit.

Take more recent times. No one will dispute the fact that Collins and Barry constitute Mack's greatest defensive strength. Those who saw the world's series last fall never will forget their dazzling fielding that saved their weakening pitchers. And now Stallings has as good a combination around second as any team needs. It is wonderfully fast, brainy and it is working together as if one mind directed the movements of both. If the Braves come through the lion's share of the credit will belong to Evers and Maranville.

Had Trouble With Her Stomach.

"About four years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach and found it necessary to eat sparingly," writes Mrs. Berinice Wyandt, Lima, Ohio. "There was a dull and heavy feeling in my stomach after eating that was most uncomfortable. I was also annoyed by frequent headaches. After taking a number of medicines without benefit I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets and found they were just the thing. Two bottles of them rid me of this complaint." For sale by all dealers.

ROBISON PARK EMPLOYES REMEMBER MR. WILLIAMS.

Manager Williams had a birthday yesterday and the Park employes presented him with a sectional oak filing cabinet in honor of the day. The fire early in July burned his office desk and chair and the gifts yesterday was to replace the one destroyed. Manager Williams always remembers his Park workers on the occasion of his birthday. To the older women he gave leather wrist bags, while the young women received handsome silk parasols. The male employes received four bladed silver pocket knives. Each of the three young men, George Frame, Paul Stratis and Ira Parker, who so successfully fought the pavilion fire, received $10 in gold and a solid gold signet ring.

GETTING IN LINE EARLY.

Unusual success in basket ball at St. Paul's last season has prompted the athletic division to get to work early this year and at a meeting to be held the second Monday in September a manager will be selected from Fred Wehrenberg, Arnold Scherer, Henry Koenig, Albert Nachrwold and Herbert Wolf. These men were nominated by "Whitey" Gerberding, Herman Hollman and Herman Adams. Gerberding will be lost to the club and it will be hard to replace him as he is one of the most aggressive youngsters in the game. He will enter college this fall.

Fall term at the International Business College opens August 31st. Office open day and evenings. Enroll now. Phone 504.

SMITH GETS ONE DOLLAR FOR FLY

Realized That Sum at Mansfield—May Hook Up With Burman.

Art Smith packed his aeroplane, paid transportation from Fort Wayne to Mansfield for his crew of helpers and express on his outfit, set it up, made a flight, took it down, packed it and shipped it home and when he settled up he had one silver dollar to represent his profit.

The reason? Well, people who can see an aviator for nothing will not pay for it and there was no enclosure there into which enough people could be driven to make the venture successful. His flying field was badly located and everything connected with the show went wrong.

A late start because his motor manufacturers failed to deliver the engine for his new machine and it is not here yet has made the season a bad one for the Fort Wayne aviator in spite of the fact that he has mastered all of the things that other aviators are doing.

With a view of remedying this to a certain extent he will make an effort to hook up in a combination with Bob Burman, and under competent management he can probably finish up with a little profit on the year. He is booked this week at Fowler, Ind., and if the arrangement with Burman is brought about the start may be made in Fort Wayne.

Smith is expecting that motor in a few days and if it gets here he will try it out and may put on an exhibition, although most of Fort Wayne has seen him in his new stunts.

He learned them all here and had big audiences while he was doing them, and only loyalty to an aviator who has mastered a great many difficulties and who has carried the name of Fort Wayne broadcast can be depended upon to bring results at the gate.

REXALLS WIN OPENER.

Get Away to Bad Start but Easily Overcome and Down Yales.

In the game at League park Sunday afternoon the Rexalls found the Yales pretty soft and won handily 15 to 6. The Yales took a three-run lead in the first inning and held it to the fourth. In the fifth the Rexalls spurted and were never in danger. Score: R.H.E.

HAD INTERESTING TRIP.

Bert Wickliffe and Floyd Ramsey shipped their canoe from Pennville and arrived yesterday from a trip down the Maumee to Toledo and as far back as their shipping point. They slept in a tent while they were out and did their own cooking, and say they enjoyed the experience.

Two suits for damages for personal injury have been filed in the federal court here. John Engle alleges he was injured at Ridgeville when a defective draw bar struck him and he asks that the Grand Rapids and Indiana pay judgment to the amount of $15,000. Henry M. Hewitt also sues the Grand Rapids & Indiana, asking $10,000 for personal injuries sustained at Shelbyville, Mich.

GERMAN BABES SEND SAVINGS TO HELP WAR VICTIMS.

LOTTIE LOUISE PFEFFERMANN AND HER SISTER, EMILE PFEFFERMANN.

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—"Please, sir, will you take this money and send it to Germany? It is for our wounded soldiers and for our orphans. It is $16.20 and we saved it all."

"We" were two pretty German children—Lottie Louise and Emeline Pfeffermann—5 and 11 years old, respectively, and they were beseeching the officials of the German consulate here to send the mite they had saved to the vaterland.

The officials, however, hesitated to accept the children's savings. But the action of the little tots produced such enthusiasm among the reservists present that a fund for a similar purpose was immediately started. Within a short time $300 was raised for the German Red Cross and German war orphans.

JOHN E. LAMB PASSES AWAY

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 24.—John E. Lamb, well known in democratic national politics, died here late yesterday afternoon. He was born in Terre Haute December 26, 1852.

Mr. Lamb was vice chairman of the democratic national committee and in charge of the democratic western headquarters at Chicago during the presidential campaign of 1908. He held a number of political offices, among them district attorney for Indiana during President Cleveland's administration and member of the fortieth, congress from the Eighth congressional district.

JOHN E. LAMB,

Prominent Indiana Political Figure Dead at Terre Haute.

Mr. Lamb became dangerously ill a week ago and suffered a serious relapse after a fall from a second story window at his home. The accident was due to his weakened condition and resulted in concussion of the spine.

The funeral will be held at the home at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Services will be held at St. Joseph's Catholic church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in the Calvary cemetery.

During periods from 8 o'clock in the morning until 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Lamb was conscious, recognized his relatives and friends and talked much with his wife. Relatives and close friends at home today were Mrs. Mary Kent, Mrs. Lamb's mother, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Foley, Miss Elizabeth Crawford, Charles Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Piety and Mrs. M. T. Hidden.

John E. Lamb has been identified with the interests of the democratic party in state and national politics for many years. He was a member of congress from 1883 to 1885 and in 1886 was United States attorney for Indiana. He was a delegate to the democratic national conventions in 1892, 1896, 1904, 1908 and 1912.

Mr. Lamb is a member of the firm of attorneys of Lamb, Beasley, Douthitt & Crawford and is a director in the McKeen National bank and the United States Trust company, of Terre Haute.

At the last election Mr. Lamb was a candidate for the United States senatorship. He has taken a prominent part in Indiana politics and has been frequently mentioned as the choice of President Wilson for ambassador to Mexico when that government is established upon a sound basis.

The following message was received last night from William J. Bryan, secretary of state:

"I have learned with deep regret of the sorrow that has overwhelmed you. Mr. Lamb's death is a great loss to the party of Indiana and the nation. Accept the sincerest sympathy of one who prized his personal and political friendship."

Vice President Marshall telegraphed: "The death of John E. Lamb would be a great loss at any time. It is doubly so now when he was to be ambassador to Mexico. Mrs. Marshall joins in deep sympathy to Mrs. Lamb and John, jr."

MR. TAGGART'S COMMENT.

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 24.—When apprised of the death of John E. Lamb of Terre Haute, Thomas Taggart said: "I regret exceedingly to hear of the death of John E. Lamb. Whatever difference that may have existed between us was buried and forgotten long ago. He was a man with very strong convictions, a good orator and a good democrat."

HENRY MINEKER DIES OF WOUND

Was Accidentally Shot in Groin by Youthful Companion.

Henry Mineker, aged seventeen years, residing at 121 Lafayette street, died at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at St. Joseph's hospital from injuries sustained when he was accidentally shot two hours earlier by John Briggemann, while the two were playing in the rear of the lad's home.

Briggemann, with Mineker, and the latter's step-father, Harry Brickley, and with Herbert Shanks, of 1405 Hugh street, had been hunting during the afternoon and succeeded in killing a squirrel. They returned home late in the afternoon and were in the back yard of the Brickley home, when Briggemann, thinking the shot gun was empty, because it had been cleaned a short time before, jokingly told Mineker to hold the squirrel up so he could shoot it.

Mineker, also believing the gun was empty, held the small animal in front of him and Briggemann pulled the trigger. The load of shot entered Mineker's groin and with a groan the boy sank to the ground and immediately lapsed into unconsciousness. He was rushed to the hospital in the police ambulance, but died two hours later without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Brickley, mother of the boy, fainted twice after the shooting, but was revived and taken to the hospital where she remained at the boy's bedside until death came. Surviving besides the mother and stepfather, the boy leaves a sister, Miss Emma.

Briggemann and Mineker had been friends for years and were devoted to each other. Briggemann is employed at the Koehlinger drug store. He was formerly employed as a soda dispenser at the People's drug store, corner of Berry and Clinton streets.

O. L. Perry, veteran telegrapher, has returned to his summer home at Lake James, after having spent two weeks in the city, working at a key at the Western Union in place of Operator C. C. Weller, who was enjoying a vacation.

Promotions, he declared, would be made on merit only.

AT THE ELECTRO-TECHNIC FIELD DAY

Start of Sack Race

With the exception of the automobile test to determine which machine could travel the greatest distance and consume only one quart of oil, all the events on the program for the first annual field day shown under the auspices of the Electro-Technic club, given Saturday afternoon at Swinney park, was pulled off to the letter. The event mentioned could not take place because one of the contestants—Harry Evans—could not get his auto in shape in time. He is to make the trial later, however, when the result will be decided and the awards made.

It was a good show and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of spectators and it was decided that similar events would be given each year by the club. The Elks' band furnished music, which was enjoyed by all, and there were abundance of soft drinks, ice cream cones and other articles of refreshment for those who cared for such things.

But interest centered in the twenty-three athletic events, which were pulled off without any tedious delays. This part of the program was handled by the following gentlemen: E. Freema, clerk; C. D. Wheeler and C. E. Roth, starters; George Harkenrider, E. A. Barnes, George R. Gawehn, F. G. Duryee, E. A. Wagner, J. B. Mills and F. C. Morgenthaler, judges. An interesting feature of the contests was that in the only two events free to all, the winner—W. L. Monroe—was not an employe of the company, but of the Pennsylvania. JOY RIDERS HIT BY FAST TRAIN

One Dead, Another Dying—Were Riding in Undertaker's Wagon.

Miss Winifred Coly, aged 20, was killed and Roy McBride, aged 22, had his skull fractured and a leg broken in two places when the automobile ambulance in which they were joy riding was struck on the Main street crossing at Elida, Ohio, by eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 8 at 9:20 o'clock Sunday night. McBride was taken to a hospital in Lima, where it is said he cannot survive the injury. The young people were lovers and were out for a ride, using the ambulance of the Williamson-Davis Undertaking company, of Lima, for whom McBride worked in the capacity of driver. They had driven to Elida, which is five miles from Lima, where they stopped a short time to see acquaintances, and were on their way homeward when the accident happened. The blow was terrific, completely demolishing the ambulance and knocking one of the cylinders off the locomotive. The accident caused a delay of two hours to the passenger train, it being necessary to send another engine to take it to Crestline. The train was in charge of Conductor Christian Casey and Engineer B. F. Campbell.

THE LARGEST IN STATE.

Friendship Lodge, No. 70, I. A. M., Greatest of All.

After the special meeting of Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, one week from tonight, that union will have the greatest membership of any machinists' union in Indiana, as it already has the largest membership of any union in Fort Wayne. Organizers have been at work in the city for some weeks and the result is over fifty applicants who will be initiated at the special meeting. Indianapolis union now has only eighteen more members than Friendship lodge and after next Monday night she will have at least twenty-five or thirty less names of her membership roll than Friendship lodge. This is a matter for pride on the part of the men who have worked in the interest of No. 70.

PLUMBERS HAVE NICE TIME.

President William J. Wolley, of the state organization of the Plumbers' union, who was in the city yesterday, attended the annual picnic of the local union on Brudi's farm, east of the city, and delivered an address, in which he set forth the progress made in the interest of the plumbers during the past few years and the benefits of unionism generally. There were in the neighborhood of 100 present at the picnic and they reached the grounds by means of automobiles, buggies and the interurban line. A chicken dinner, with all the trimmings, a ball game in the afternoon and Mr. Wolley's address were some of the chief features of the day.

HYACINTH TO HAVE PICNIC.

Next Wednesday Hyacinth lodge, No. 38, Ladies Society to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will hold its annual picnic at Robison park. The ladies who are managing the picnic invite all members of the society and their families to the affair and suggest that they come with well filled baskets. Arrangements have been made to leave the transfer corner at 10:30 as far as possible, but those who cannot make it at that hour are urged to come later.

He was one of the contestants in the relay race at the Electro-Technic blowout Saturday and fell across the tape on the home run, skinning his arms and one leg badly. He won third prize, despite the accident.

W. G. Kaiser, superintendent of the Western Gas Construction company's plant, is using novel, but effective methods of carrying out his "safety first" ideas among the employes of the works. In each pay envelope issued last week he had inserted a slip of paper bearing the words: "Safety first; never take chances; never take short cuts by the path of danger; think before you act and be watchful for your own safety and that of your fellow employes." Mr. Kaiser practices these rules himself in directing the work in the shop and his close attention to the principles they stand for has resulted in nearly eliminating accidents from the shops.

The experiment is being tried in Kansas of irrigation by means of a great battery of windmills, which pump the water from the interior of the earth and deposit it in dirt reservoirs, where it is stored until wanted.

STUFFED SHARKS CUSTOMS PUZZLE

Are They Leather, Fish or Curios Inspector is Asking.

New York, Aug. 24.—When is a shark not a shark? If that question were answered in the precedents of the custom house none would be worried about it. But it isn't, and accordingly two sharks, or rather sharks' skins stuffed with hay, are waiting on the pier of the Bahama government line, at Montague street, Brooklyn, until the government decides whether they are fish, leather, curio or stuffed animals.

These two sharks were employed by the Thanhauser Film company as "actors" in the pictures taken below the sea. Afterward they were killed, stuffed and sent to the president of the company in New Rochelle. That gentleman didn't care particularly about having the sharks, and so presented them to George F. Kerr, manager of the new Rose Garden, where the pictures will first be shown.

All went well until the Malm arrived from the Bahamas and unload a large box onto the pier. In it rested the stuffed sharks. Mr. Kerr went over to see his new acquisitions and was going to take them away. He would have done so had not the government thought differently about it. At first the customs officials were going to charge for fish. The only trouble was that the sharks were no longer fish.

Then the big books were brought out. One customs officer argued that the hide of the sharks was much like leather, and that, therefore, the charges would have to be made under that head. All agreed that there was wisdom in that statement, but another suggested in this case the sharks were clearly stuffed animals. To add to the complications, one of the inspectors suggested that the sharks were curios and should be taxed as such.

It is not the first time Mr. Kerr has had dealings with the customs people. He brought in the first airship in 1903 and had trouble under the Dingley tariff law, which was in force at that time. He had to secure a precedent in that case, and hopes that he won't have to spend three weeks in Washington talking sharks, as he did at that time discussing airships.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Wheat opened ¼c down on a little local selling but speculative sentiment was bullish on the European situation and a net gain of 1c to 1½c was quickly registered on a light trade.

The market broke on realizing, and closed steady, ¼c higher in September to ½c lower.

Corn started ¼c to ¾c under Saturday's close on rains in the corn belt but in sympathy with oats steadied and made a net recovery of from ⅛c to ⅝c.

The close was weak, ¾c to 1c down.

Oats enjoyed the only big market on the floor on reports of continued buying for export. The opening was ⅛c to ⅝c down on the rains but the reaction carried ¼c to 1⅝c higher the September option being most affected.

Provisions were steady but inactive. There were no opening bids for pork but ribs and lard were unchanged to 5c higher.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Since Saturday there have been showers over a large part of the country east of the Rockies. A storm has moved eastward from the Dakotas to the lower St. Lawrence valley, accompanied by general rains, heavy in many localities, from Minnesota and Iowa eastward to New England. Its rapid movement eastward caused high winds throughout the lake region. This morning rains have again set in over a large portion of the plains states from the Dakotas and Montana southward to Texas and are heavy in localities. Havre, Mont., Williston, N. D., and Abilene, Tex., report rainfalls of more than one inch.

Moderately warm weather prevails over the states east of the Rockies this morning, and maximum temperatures yesterday were from 90 to 95 degrees at most stations in the central states. A cool wave has overspread the Dakotas and the Lake Superior region.

Cloudy and unsettled weather will continue in this section tonight, with probably more rain and somewhat lower temperature. Tuesday will probably be fair and moderately cool.

STRANGER WITH SUNDAY BOTTLE

Promised Solution of Long Baffling Mystery is Blown Up.

For a moment it appeared in police court Monday morning that the long baffling problem of the mysterious stranger with the Sunday souse bottle was about to be unraveled, but the momentous promise blew up when Judge Kerr declined to see anything out of the ordinary in the case of John Schlerth and let him go. Scores of times at the bar of the city court it has been asserted by men arrested for being drunk on Sunday that they had been overcome by strong potations from a bottle freely tendered by a stranger. The wicked donor's identity never has been established. John Schlerth was arrested Sunday and he was highly pickled. In court he said that he had two bottles of red liquor in his pocket while wandering the streets Sunday, he met up with two strangers, felt his heart warm toward them, invited them to drink from his brace of "hippers" and in tendering his hospitality cut himself in for too much and went down and out. He claimed Chicago as his home, said he was but a brief sojourner here and wanted to go home. He did not seem to be the solution of the ancient mystery and was told to hike.

Both Fighters Fined.

After taking a lot of testimony delivered in Polish and relayed to the court by an interpreter, Judge Kerr fined Bill Roeback and Frank Kowinski $20 and costs each and added suspended jail sentences of ten days for disorderly conduct. According to the law and the evidence Kowinski's punishment was just, but to the innocent bystander who happened to know something about Bill Roeback it looked rough to fine a man who had put the marks of a good beating on Roeback, whose fame is extensive as the "fighting Pole." The two came together in front of Rodenbeck's saloon, Hanna and Wallace streets, Saturday night, and when it was over Roeback looked very mussy indeed about the face. He said Kowinski had used a knife on him. There was no conclusive evidence of this, but he appears to have been lacerated with a meat hack. Both principals were arrested by Officer Hill, who found a big crowd circled about the belligerents. Each man had an attorney and each gave bond for appeal of his case to the circuit court. Roeback has a well established reputation among the Poles and other foreign elements in the southeast part of the city as a "bad man." He has been in the city court many times.

Other City Court Cases.

These drunks, arrested Saturday and Sunday, were fined: William Coby, $1 and costs; Steve Sku and Andy Fudock, soused together, $5 and costs each; James Kelly, $1 and costs; Tom Hogan, $1 and costs; Frank Kelly, $1 and costs; Clarence Davis, $1 and costs; Charles Meyer, $1 and costs; Pat Shea, $1 and costs.

Jeff Myers, Oval Rodabaugh, John Linguist and William Foster, drunks, were turned loose, and the case of Mike Koehler, for drunkenness, was continued until Wednesday under $15 bond. Steve Jones, drunk, but charged with disorderly conduct, was released.

Guy Ladig, the lad charged with stealing money from the clothing of Fred Huett, a fellow laborer, was continued until Tuesday.

John Kellerman, known also as Harry Bender, was continued a week on a loitering charge and put under $500 bond. Bender sent a telegram to his sister at Kingston, N. Y., that he intended to commit suicide. He hoped to frighten her into sending him money. The telegram disclosed his identity as a deserter from the United States army. The sister telegraphed to have her brother looked up and when Detective Sergeant Walter Imuel picked him up he made the young man confess his trick. Sunday came a telegram saying Kellerman is a deserter.
